Agenda Item 1: OPENING

5. The outgoing Chairperson, Hon. Ibrahim Adam Ibrahim, Minister of Social Welfare and Social Security of the Sudan welcomed Ministers to the meeting and alluded to activities over the past two years by the AU Commission in conjunction with Member States and expressed appreciation to all for placing social issues firmly on the agenda of the Continent. The Minister expressed the hope that the restructuring of ARI would be concluded soon and presented an offer of the Sudan to host the secretariat of the successor institution of ARI. The Minister briefed the meeting on the achievements of the Sudan regarding upholding the rights of persons with disabilities and children's rights.

6. In his address to the Ministers, the UN Special Rapporteur on Disability, Mr Shuaib Chalklen, informed the meeting that his mandate focuses on the UN Standard Rules, and the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, and that he encourages Member States to ratify these instruments. He also serves as catalyst for international cooperation in accordance with article 32 of the UN Convention. The Special Rapporteur lays special focus on vulnerable persons with disabilities, such as children in countries in conflict, and persons with psychosocial disabilities, as the latter have no or very little access to education and employment. Mr Chalklen alluded to the high level UN meeting on disability which will take place on 23 September 2013 in New York. He encouraged Member States to submit their recommendations for the meeting, and mentioned that the meeting will also feed into the post 2015 development agenda for inclusion of persons with disabilities. The Special Rapporteur informed the meeting of the establishment of the African Disability Forum which will focus on research, civil society organisations, capacity building and implementing the Continental Plan of Action on the African Decade of Persons with Disabilities.

7. In his opening address, the acting Commissioner for Social Affairs, H.E. Prof. Jean Pierre Onvehoun Ezin mentioned that there is a general lack of reliable data on disability in many AU Member States which hampers the efforts to document the relationships between poverty, social exclusion and disability. This has resulted in a lack of awareness among policy and decision makers of the strong link between poverty reduction and promotion of equal participation opportunities of persons with disability in development contexts. As a result, the disability dimension has not featured in general social development and poverty reduction strategies in many African countries. The Commissioner asserted that time has come to keenly involve the talents of persons with disabilities to develop African economies and communities.
