      ➢ The escalating conflict between the Sudan and South Sudan and its causes;
      ➢ Appealed for condemnation for the aggression by South Sudan and emphasized the right of Sudan to seek for compensation for environmental damage caused by the alleged destruction to oil installations;
Sudan has a problem with its referral to the ICC because i. Sudan is not a Party to the Rome Statute and cannot be bound by the decisions of the ICC in accordance with the principles enshrined in the Vienna convention on the Law of Treaties;

ii. The principle of non-interference as guaranteed by the UN Charter; and

iii. The immunity of senior state officials as guaranteed under customary international law and the Vienna conventions on the subject.

b) Rwanda: The Hon. Minister in his brief statement highlighted the following issues:

- Concerted efforts are required at the continental level to address the scourge of unconstitutional change of governments;

- Lack of progress on the issue of the abusive application of universal jurisdiction by non-African States due to the failure of the continent in responding collectively.

c) Egypt: The Hon. Minister in his brief statement highlighted the following issues:

- Gratitude to the continent and the African Union Commission in the efforts undertaken during the political challenges experienced in North Africa in 2011;

- Highlighted the important role of the African Court in international criminal justice as well as the Pan African Parliament in the preparation of model laws in the service of the African peoples and nations.

d) Libya: The Hon. Minister in his brief statement highlighted the following issues:

- Requested and implored any African State hosting remnants of the previous regime to hand them over to the Libyan authorities to face justice so that funds stolen can be returned to develop the country;

- Requested the support in Libya’s right to try Saif al-Islam Ghaddafi and Abdullah al-Senoussi in Libya since it is not a Party to the Rome Statute and it has the willingness and capability to try them.

e) Ethiopia: The Hon. Minister in his brief statement highlighted the following issues:
➢ In considering the draft Protocol on the Court, due cognisance should be given to the immunities granted under international law to senior state officials;

➢ Institutionalise the power of the prosecutor to investigate as against what pertains at the ICC, where the Prosecutor can initiate investigations proprio motu. Vesting such power in an individual is subject to abuse.

11. After the presentations, the Ministers took note of the general statements.

VIII. PRESENTATION AND CONSIDERATION OF THE REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE GOVERNMENT LEGAL EXPERTS

12. The Legal Counsel, Mr. Ben Kioko presented the report of the meeting of Government Legal Experts that took place from 7 to 11 May 2012. He concluded his presentation by highlighting the major conclusions and recommendations, which were being submitted for consideration by the Ministers.

IX. CONSIDERATION OF THE DRAFT PROTOCOL TO THE CONSTITUTIVE ACT RELATING TO THE PAN AFRICAN PARLIAMENT

13. The Legal Counsel presented the Draft Protocol Draft Protocol to the Constitutive Act Relating to the Pan African Parliament. Following this presentation, the meeting considered the Draft Protocol and made slight amendments to Articles 3(m); 8 (i); 8 (4) (a) and 11.

14. At the end of its deliberations, the meeting adopted the Draft Protocol as amended.

X. CONSIDERATION OF THE DRAFT PROTOCOL ON AMENDMENTS TO THE PROTOCOL ON THE STATUTE OF THE AFRICAN COURT OF JUSTICE AND HUMAN AND PEOPLES’ RIGHTS

15. The Legal Counsel presented the Draft Protocol relating to amendments to the Protocol of the African Court of Justice and Human and Peoples’ Rights.

16. Following this presentation, the meeting considered and adopted the Draft Protocol except Article 28E relating to the crime of Unconstitutional change of Government. In this regard and taking into account the high political nature of the said Article, the meeting agreed to submit it to the Assembly through the Executive Council for consideration.

17. During the consideration of the Draft Protocol, delegations raised the following concerns:
i. There is need for information on the financial and budgetary implications for the new crimes, the detention facilities, witness protection, complementarity with the Regional Courts, the International Criminal Court (ICC) and the International Court of Justice (ICJ);

ii. The definition of unconstitutional change of government arising from the African Charter on Democracy, Elections and Governance needed more precision;

iii. With respect to the relationship between crimes in the Draft Protocol and in domestic law, the core crimes have internationally well-known definitions, many of which have been incorporated into the domestic jurisdictions. However, the definitions of others, e.g. terrorism, corruption, trafficking of persons and drugs need to be considered very carefully to ensure there are no divergences with those of domestic law;

iv. States should be allowed to choose which instrument or section of the Court to belong to;

v. Need for the Peace and Security Council to defer investigations or prosecutions, for a period of one year, in the interest of peace and security.

18. Following the concerns raised, the Legal Counsel clarified as follows:

i. The financial and budgetary implications of expanding the jurisdiction of the Court were discussed extensively in the context of the study in the previous meetings of the government legal experts;

ii. Government experts had agreed that in light of the desire by member states to strengthen actions under their shared values, it will not be advisable to allow States to pick and choose which jurisdiction of the Court to belong to. Furthermore, the proposal raises many technical and practical difficulties based on the proposed number and deployment of judges within the Court;

iii. He recalled that the ECOWAS Protocol on Democracy and Good Governance prohibits amendment of national constitution, six (6) months prior to an election.

19. On the structural, financial, political, diplomatic and other implications of expanding the jurisdiction of the Court, these could be summarized as follows:

i. Establishment of the Office of the Prosecutor with investigative, prosecutorial and other staff;

ii. Enlargement of the Registry, furnishing it with more powers and more staff of different calibre and cadre;
iii. Expansion/ increase of the working premises of the Court i.e. Courtroom facilities, office, registry, library, information and communication technology (ICT) and other facilities;
iv. Establishment and maintenance of detention facilities adjacent or proximate to the Court;
v. Operational requirements for enhancing and maintaining the security of the Court;
vi. Procurement of furniture, equipment and working accessories commensurate with the numbers and categories of Judges and members of staff recruited;
vii. Operational requirements of investigations across (and sometimes beyond) the continent;
viii. Funds for the benefit of victims, and for Legal Assistance to accused persons;
ix. Funds to cater for contingencies and emergencies;
x. The total budget for the Special Court of Sierra Leone was US$16 million for 2011 and US$4.7 million for 2012. With respect to 2011, this has provisions for 10 judges, 13 staff in chambers, 16 in the office of the Prosecutor, 2 in the office for the defence and 62 in the Registry;
xi. The International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda (ICTR), on the other hand, had a budget of US$130 million for 2010 with 800 staff running multiple trials at the same time;
xii. Relationships between the Court and other international courts and tribunals, including the courts of African Regional Economic Communities, the International Criminal Court, the International Court of Justice and others;
xiii. Building capacity and political will for effecting requests from the Court to Member States for mutual legal assistance and extradition.

20. Some Delegations highlighted the need to reinforce the provisions to prevent possible abuse of prosecutorial powers.

21. At the end of his presentation, the Legal Counsel informed the Ministers that the actual structural and financial implications of the Court would be established in the usual manner by the Executive Council on the recommendation of the PRC.

22. At the end of its deliberations, the Ministerial meeting approved the Draft Protocol as amended and recommended it to the Assembly for adoption. It also drew attention to the high financial implications arising from the Court being granted a new mandate for international crimes.
XI. BRIEFING AND DISCUSSIONS ON THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE ASSEMBLY DECISIONS ON UNIVERSAL JURISDICTION AND THE PROGRESS MADE IN THE DISCUSSIONS WITH THE EUROPEAN UNION AND THE NEGOTIATIONS AT THE LEVEL OF THE UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY

23. The Legal Counsel presented the Briefing Paper on the implementation of the Assembly Decisions on the abusive application of the principle of Universal jurisdiction.

24. After the presentation, the Ministerial Meeting adopted the following recommendations:

   R1. Member States should participate actively in the upcoming discussions and negotiations on the scope and application of the principle of Universal Jurisdiction at the level of the Sixth Committee of the United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) during the sixty-seventh session of UNGA to be held during the last quarter of 2012;

   R2. Member States which have not yet done so, should submit their observations and information on the scope and application of Universal Jurisdiction to the UN Secretary General if the UNGA through a Resolution made a similar request in the future;

   R3. Member States through the African Group in New York should strongly put forth the concerns expressed on the application of the principle of Universal Jurisdiction by some non-African States as indicated in the various Decisions of the Assembly;

   R4. African States could use the principle of reciprocity to defend themselves against the abusive application of the principle of Universal Jurisdiction;

   R5. The warrants of arrest should not be executed in any Member State in accordance with Assembly decision 199(XI);

   R6. The African Union Commission should send an official communication to the European Commission, on behalf of the Assembly, requesting the latter to transmit the AU concerns and implore the Government of Spain to comply with the Law of Spain with respect to the arrest warrants issued against Rwandan Leaders on the basis of the application of the principle of Universal jurisdiction. The Chairperson of the Union could also be requested to send a similar request directly to the Prime Minister of Spain.
XII. CONSIDERATION OF THE PROGRESS REPORT OF THE COMMISSION ON THE IMPLEMENTATION OF ASSEMBLY DECISIONS ON THE INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL COURT

26. After the presentation, the Ministerial Meeting adopted the following recommendations:

   R1. The Member States should be reminded of the importance of putting the interests of victims at the centre of all actions, and also in sustaining the fight against impunity, as provided for in Articles 4 (h) and 4 (o) of the Constitutive Act of the African Union;

   R2. The adoption of an African Union Model National Law on Universal Jurisdiction over international crimes should be expedited and all Member States encouraged to expeditiously enact or strengthen laws in this area;

   R3. The International Court of Justice (ICJ) should be approached through the United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) for an Advisory Opinion on the question of immunities, under international law, of Heads of State and senior state officials that are not Parties to the Rome Statute. However, there is need to bear in mind that the matter is no so much legal as it is political and requires a relentless political response. Further study may be required on the advisability and implications of seeking an advisory opinion from the ICJ;

   R4. State Parties to the Rome Statute should implement the Assembly Decision AU/Dec. 296 (XV) adopted in Kampala, Uganda in July 2010 which requested Member States of the African Union to balance, where applicable, their obligations to the African Union with their obligations to the ICC;

   R5. The African Union and its Member States should seriously seek to enhance African representation on the Bench of the ICC in order to ensure that Africa contributes optimally to the evolution of the Court’s jurisprudence and in this context, Member States should in the future respect the decisions of the AU endorsing candidatures to international institutions;

   R6. For effective reliance on Article 98 of the Rome Statute, African State Parties to the ICC and African non-State Parties could consider concluding bilateral agreements on the immunities of their State officials;
R7. The African Union should publicize, within the continent, what it has done towards the protection of civilians in situations where international crimes have been perpetrated;

R8. The AU should maintain the request to the UNSC for deferral of the proceedings against President Omar al Bashir and in the Kenyan situation;

R9. The Chairperson of the AU Assembly, the Permanent Representatives Committee (PRC) and the African Group in New York should promote and support the recommendations made herein as well the African common position on ICC;

R10. The African Union and its Member States should support and endorse Libya’s request to put on trial in Libya its own citizens charged with committing international crimes.

XIII. CONSIDERATION OF THE DRAFT MODEL NATIONAL LEGISLATION ON UNIVERSAL JURISDICTION

27. The Ministerial Meeting adopted the African Union Draft Model Law over international crimes with slight amendments.

28. Additionally, the Ministerial Meeting recommended that the African Union Commission should explore ways and means through which the capacity of relevant officials and institutions may be enhanced for effective performance of their duties and mandates under the AU Model Law.

XIV. ADOPTION OF THE DRAFT LEGAL INSTRUMENTS AND THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE MINISTERIAL MEETING

29. The meeting adopted the Draft Legal Instruments and the report with minor amendments.

XV. ANY OTHER BUSINESS

30. There were no discussions under this agenda item.

XVI. CLOSING CEREMONY

31. In his closing remarks, the Chair of the meeting, the Attorney General of Kenya, Hon. Prof. Githu Muigai expressed his pleasure at the confidence reposed in him by his fellow Ministers and Heads of Delegation. He thanked delegations for the robust discussions as well as the Legal Counsel and his staff, the Consultants and Interpreters for their cooperation and support.

19 - 20 DECEMBER 2012

REPORT ON THE WORKSHOP ON THE DEFINITION OF CRIMES OF UNCONSTITUTIONAL CHANGE OF GOVERNMENT AND FINANCIAL AND STRUCTURAL IMPLICATIONS
REPORT OF THE WORKSHOP ON THE DEFINITION OF CRIMES OF UNCONSTITUTIONAL CHANGE OF GOVERNMENT AND FINANCIAL AND STRUCTURAL IMPLICATIONS

I. INTRODUCTION

1. Pursuant to decision Assembly/AU/Dec.427(XIX) adopted in July 2012, the Assembly in considering the draft Protocol on Amendments to the Protocol on the African Court of Justice and Human Rights, took note of the recommendations of the Executive Council and requested the Commission in collaboration with the African Court on Human and Peoples’ Rights AfCHPR) to prepare a study on the financial and structural implications resulting from the expansion of the jurisdiction of the AfCHPR and submit the study along with the Draft Protocol on Amendments to the Protocol to the Statute of the African Court of Justice and Human Rights for consideration by the policy organs at the next summit in January 2013.

2. In addition, the Assembly, in the above mentioned decision, stressed the need for the AU to adopt a definition of the “crime of unconstitutional change of government” and, in this regard, requested the AU Commission in collaboration with the African Union Commission on International Law (AUCIL) and the AfCHPR to submit this definition for consideration by the policy organs in January 2013.

3. In furtherance of the above Assembly decision, a Validation Workshop was convened in Arusha, Tanzania on 19 and 20 December 2012 with representatives from the Commission, AfCHPR, AUCIL and the Pan African lawyers Union (PALU) working as consultants, all in attendance.

III. OPENING OF THE MEETING

Welcoming Remarks by Hon. Justice Duncan Tambala

5. Justice Duncan Tambala welcomed participants to Arusha and in particular to the seat of the African Court, the venue of the Workshop. He gave a brief background to the Assembly decision that set in motion the amendments to the Protocol on Amendments to the Protocol to the Statute of the African Court of Justice and Human Rights as it relates to empowering the Court to try international crimes. He also indicated that in defining the crime of unconstitutional change of government, there was need to provide for a penalty bearing in mind the zero tolerance for unconstitutional change of government as provided for in the various legal instruments of the Union.

6. He concluded by inviting the participants to contribute effectively so as to ensure that the Decision of the Assembly is implemented.

IV. CONSIDERATION AND ADOPTION OF THE DRAFT AGENDA

7. The participants adopted the following agenda:

i) Opening
ii) Consideration and Adoption of the Draft Agenda
iii) Organization of Work
iv) Consideration of the definition of the crime of an unconstitutional change of government
v) Consideration of the financial and structural implications
vi) Any Other Business
vii) Closing Ceremony

V. ORGANISATION OF WORK

8. The workshop adopted the following working hours.

- Morning: 09h30 – 13h00
- Afternoon: 14h30 – 17h00

VI. CONSIDERATION OF THE DEFINITION OF THE CRIME OF AN UNCONSTITUTIONAL CHANGE OF GOVERNMENT

9. As a prelude to the discussions, Mr. Donald Deya, Consultant, provided a comprehensive background to the process by recalling Decision Assembly/AU/Dec. 213 (XII) adopted during the 12th Ordinary Session of the Assembly in February 2009 in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, which requested the Commission in consultation with the African Court on Human and Peoples’ Rights, and the African Union Commission on International Law to examine the implications of the Court being empowered to try international crimes such as genocide, crimes against humanity and war crimes. He reminded participants of the process so far leading up to the decision of the Assembly in July 2012. These included elaboration of a study report and draft legal instrument, its validation during two (2) workshops, its consideration by two (2) meetings of government legal experts, further consideration by Ministers of Justice/Attorneys General prior to consideration by the Policy Organs in July 2012.

10. After the presentation the facilitator, Mr. Adewale Iyanda, Legal Officer, informed participants that there was need to take into account the political nature of an unconstitutional change of government and to bear this in mind in arriving at a definition that will be acceptable to all the AU Member States. Thereafter, he invited the representatives of the AUCIL and the AfCHPR to give a brief presentation on the definitions of the crime of unconstitutional change of government arrived at by the respective Organs.

11. Following the presentation, participants considered the two (2) proposals by AUCIL and the AfCHPR vis-à-vis the draft Protocol to the Statute of the African Court of Justice and Human Rights with specific focus on Article 28E and emphasis on sub-article 3. The following observations and comments ensued:
i) The Peace and Security Council (PSC) is the Organ responsible for determining that an unconstitutional change of government has occurred in conformity with the various legal instruments of the Union (i.e. PSC Protocol and African Charter on Democracy, Elections and Governance);

ii) Involving political bodies in judicial processes is not advisable;

iii) Need to specify the penalties for the crime of an unconstitutional change of government as a deterrent;

iv) Replace ‘democratically elected government’ with just “government” so as not to legitimize the overthrow of any government irrespective of how that government came into power;

v) What are the criteria for determining that an uprising is popular?

vi) Sub-paragraph 3 should be deleted all together as it is more political than legal and in any case does not add or subtract from the Court its jurisdiction over this crime;

vii) Sub-paragraph 2 which reads: ‘For purposes of this Statute, “democratically elected government” has the same meaning as contained in AU instruments’, should be deleted since the term ‘democratically elected government’ is not only defined under AU legal instruments but also under international law;

viii) Those who act violently to overthrow a government within the context of a popular uprising should be protected under the draft Protocol as well;

ix) Criminal responsibility is not collective but an individual one, hence it is difficult to criminalize an uprising that is undertaken collectively;

x) The eventual wording of the definition should not reflect a right to overthrow a government through a popular uprising, but should be worded in a way that will not encourage a change of government other than the constitution provides and which may act as catalysts to destabilize most of the fledgling democracies on the continent.

12. After extensive deliberations, the workshop decided not to propose any amendments to sub-articles 1 and 2 of Article 28E as adopted by the Assembly but agreed to amend sub-article 3 which was the only contentious provision. In this regard, the workshop adopted a reformulated sub-article 3 to read as follows:
“Where the Peace and Security Council of the African Union determines that the change of government through popular uprising is not an unconstitutional change of government, the Court shall not be seized of the matter”

13. The amended draft Protocol to the Statute of the African Court of Justice and Human Rights with the above amendments is annexed to this report (Annex 1).

VII. CONSIDERATION OF THE FINANCIAL AND STRUCTURAL IMPLICATIONS

14. The Consultant, Mr. Donald Deya, presented the study report on the draft financial and structural implications of an expanded Court to try international crimes. He indicated that the report was prepared on the basis of three (3) principles: i) pragmatism; ii) gradualism; and iii) flexibility. He went on to highlight the structure, staffing and budget that may be required for the expanded Court.

15. Mr. Deya indicated that the Host Country will be providing the premises and that the land that has been set aside for AfCHPR has already taken into account the expansion of the Court in the future; however, additional costs were not envisaged in this regard. Existing detention facilities currently used by the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda (ICTR), which is winding down its operations, may be placed at the disposal of the expanded Court. As a result, the only additional expenses envisaged will be in the expanded structure and operations of AfCHPR.

16. After the presentation, participants discussed the draft Study Report and adopted it with amendments as annexed to this report (Annex 2).

VIII. CLOSING REMARKS

17. The Ag. Legal Counsel, Ms. Djeneba Diarra, as the convener of the Workshop, thanked all participants for the fruitful and insightful contributions and the lively debates that ensued which led to conclusive discussions on all issues. She thanked the members of the AUCIL for their invaluable time and contribution, the staff of the Commission for the preparatory work and logistics and finally the AfCHPR for generously hosting the Workshop at short notice and for placing its facilities at the disposal of the workshop. She also thanked the interpreters for facilitating discussions amongst the different linguistic groups.

18. She concluded by indicating that the outcome of the Workshop would be submitted to the policy organs in January 2013.

REPORT ON THE FINANCIAL AND STRUCTURAL IMPLICATIONS OF EXTENDING THE JURISDICTION OF THE AFRICAN COURT OF JUSTICE AND HUMAN RIGHTS TO ENCOMPASS INTERNATIONAL CRIMES
Report on the Financial and Structural Implications of extending the Jurisdiction of the African Court of Justice and Human Rights to encompass international crimes

Introduction/ Prefatory Observations

1. The July 2012 Executive Council and Assembly Decisions focus solely on financial and structural implications of the extension of jurisdiction.1

2. Should there be need, during deliberations on this Report, to contextualize the administrative, structural and financial implications within a larger reflection on other implications, including, legal/judicial, diplomatic, etc, these other implications were also discussed in the original Consultant’s Report that accompanied the first draft of the legal instrument. These were placed before, and adopted by, the 4th Meeting of Government Experts on the Legal Instruments on the Transformation of the African Union Commission to the African Union Authority, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, 14 – 22 March 2011.

The Principles underpinning the negotiation of the draft instrument to date

3. The negotiations of the Ministers of Justice/ Attorneys’ General and the Government Experts have highlighted principles of pragmatism, gradualism and flexibility.

4. Pragmatism in institutional design: The proposed additional jurisdiction over international crimes builds upon the already agreed and adopted human and peoples’ rights and general affairs jurisdictions, respectively. Currently, the African Court on Human and Peoples’ Rights is in existence. Pursuant to the Sharm el Sheikh Protocol, this Court will be expanded to become the African Court of Justice and Human Rights. It is to this latter Court that an international criminal jurisdiction is to be added. As such, a new Court is NOT being created; jurisdiction is being extended, and, consequently, the existing Court is being expanded, to accommodate this new jurisdiction. The draft Protocol and Statute (hereinafter simply referred to as the draft legal instrument) builds upon the existing Court, and only marginally adds upon the required structure and human resources. The draft legal instrument also pragmatically preserves current gains, such that there is no roll-back for Member States that had accepted the human and peoples’ rights and/ or general affairs jurisdiction, pursuant to preceding legal instruments.

5. Gradualism in institutional growth and development: the extended jurisdiction will start off with the minimum required (additional) human, technical and financial resources, in terms of Judges, staff of Chambers, Registry, Office of the Prosecutor (OTP), and also other physical, technical and financial resources. For instance, the existing African Court on Human and Peoples’ Rights has provision for eleven (11) Judges. For the proposed African Court of Justice and Human Rights (pursuant to the Sharm el Sheikh Protocol), there will be an increase of five (5)

1 The full text of the Decisions of the Executive Council and Assembly are annexed as Appendices 2 and 3, respectively, of this Report.
Judges. At the commencement of the instant legal instrument, adding an international criminal jurisdiction, there will be NO addition of Judges beyond the sixteen (16) provided in the Sharm el Sheikh Protocol. In the existing Court, only the President of the Court serves full-time. In the merged Court (pursuant to the Sharm el Sheikh Protocol), in addition to the President, only the Vice President will serve full-time. This position will be retained at the commencement of the instant legal instrument, adding an international criminal jurisdiction. Thus, the other fourteen (14) Judges will continue to serve on an ad hoc basis, until the workload increases. The decision as to when more, or all, of the Judges will commence full-time service will be made by the policy organs of the African Union (AU), upon a request from the Court. Similarly, current provisions include one Registrar and one Deputy Registrar. The merged Court will add one Deputy Registrar. Thus, at the commencement of the instant legal instrument, adding an international criminal jurisdiction, there will only be one additional Deputy Registrar. For a more elaborate tabulation of the human resource implications, please see Appendix 1 to this Report.

6. Flexibility in current and future developments at the Court: the draft legal instrument provides for the election of judges who have knowledge, skills and experience in more than one of the three mandates of the Court. It will then be left to the Judges, through their Rules of Procedure and Evidence (hereinafter simply referred to as the Rules), to formulate provisions to ensure that they can flexibly address all three mandates of the Court. The draft legal instrument also provides for a flexible increase in the number of Judges, by the Assembly, upon a request from the Court. It further provides for possible increase in the list of crimes within the jurisdiction of the Court, by the Assembly, upon the consensus of States parties, and based on developments in international law.

Structure, Staffing and Budget of the Court

7. As with all the organs and institutions of the African Union (AU), the policy organs of the AU approve the structure, staffing and budget, and also adopt activity and financial reports, on an annual basis, in accordance with its Financial Rules and Regulations. Therefore the policy organs of the AU will make all decisions that may have any financial implications.

8. In summary, the extension of jurisdiction and expansion of the Court will entail:

   a) Election of new Judges (but retaining the overall number of sixteen already adopted in the Sharm el Sheikh Protocol);
   b) Establishment of the Office of the Prosecutor with investigative, prosecutorial and other staff;
   c) Enlargement of the Registry, furnishing it with more powers and more staff of different calibre and cadre;
   d) Expansion/ increase of the working premises of the Court i.e. Courtroom facilities, office, registry, library, information and communication technology (ICT) and other facilities;
   e) Establishment and maintenance, in conjunction with the Host State, of penitentiary (detention) facilities adjacent or proximate to the Court;
f) Operational requirements for enhancing and maintaining the security of the Court;
g) Procurement of furniture, equipment and working accessories commensurate with the numbers and categories of staff recruited;
h) Operational requirements of investigations across (and sometimes beyond) the continent;
i) Funds for the benefit of victims, and for Legal Assistance to accused persons;
j) Funds to cater for contingencies and emergencies.

9. A more elaborate tabulation of the human resource implications is below, in Appendix 1 to this Report.

Support work for the Court

10. The International Criminal Court (ICC) and the ad hoc international criminal tribunals (hereinafter, simply referred to as the ad hos) operated in instances where they were the only institutions in their respective environments dealing with the issues they were established to deal with. Unlike them, the African Court will be operating in an “ecosystem” where there are other organs and institutions that would share some of the “division of labour.” For instance, other institutions could contribute to research, documentation and the formulation of “soft law” on issues of human and peoples’ rights, good governance, democracy rule of law and their interface with international criminal law, which the Court could rely on. These include the African Commission on Human and Peoples’ Rights, the African Committee of Experts on the Rights and Welfare of the Child, the African Union Commission on International Law, the African Union Advisory Board on Corruption, the African Peer Review Mechanism, and the Panel of the Wise, within the African Peace and Security Architecture (APSA).

Estimates on the possible financial requirements of the Court

11. A more elaborate tabulation of the human resource implications, as well as the financial costing based on actual AU scales, is appended below, in Appendix 1 to this Report.

12. The most appropriate comparative costing would be that of the Special Chamber to try the former President of Chad, Hissene Habre. The most recent costing is:

13. This is the cost of trying a former Head of State of one African country, in a second African country. In our view, some of the envisaged trials that would not involve former Heads of State could cost significantly cheaper than the costs estimated above.
