- (a) Foster the full use of specialized African manpower in the development of the Continent by making available to African countries where there is a shortage of skilled personnel, redundant specialists in other independent States in the Region and in African countries still under (foreign) domination;

- (c) Give African experts and civil servants with specialist training the possibility of further developing their expertise by tackling problems in assisted States;
- (d) Create and encourage the spirit of mutual assistance and solidarity among African countries.

ARTICLE 2:

An African Technical Assistance personnel (hereinafter referred to as "experts") which is the object of the programme shall include: senior cadres with university degrees or equivalent qualifications, semi-professional staff and skilled workers from independent African States and African countries still under (foreign) domination.

CHAPTER 11

RECRUITMENT FORMALITIES AND DURATION OF SERVICE UNDER THE PROGRAMME

ARTICLE 3:

Any country which is a party to the Convention and desires to secure the services of an African expert, shall submit a request in writing to the General Secretariat of OAU (hereinafter referred to as "the Secretariat") at least six months in advance. The request shall include the following:

- (a) A clear and precise description of the job to be performed by the expert;
- (b) An indication of the level of qualification and experience the expert is expected to have;
- (c) An indication of the place of assignment and the agencies and/or departments to which the expert will be attached;
- (d) An indication of the probable duration of the expert's services;
- (e) An indication of the service conditions.

ARTICLE 4:

As regards the duration of the expert's services, there shall be two main types of contract, as follows:

- (a) A middle-term contract (from 6 to 12 months).
- (b) A long-term contract (over 1 to 2 years).

ARTICLE 5:

Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 4 above, any country which is a party to the Convention may request the employment of an African expert for a period less than 6 months or assignment to a special mission or as a consultant.

The formalities and procedure governing these short-term contracts shall be identical with those set out in Article 3.

ARTICLE 6:

The Government and the experts shall both sign contracts governing their mutual relations. Any contract of this nature shall be subject to the provisions of this Convention and a copy of the contract shall be forwarded to the Administrative Secretary-General of OAU.

ARTICLE 7:

Experts whose services are required by a Government under the terms of this Convention shall be expected to carry out the duties assigned them by that Government on its behalf.

In discharging their duties, the experts shall be responsible solely to the Government which has recruited them and shall be answerable to it alone. Except with the express authorization of the said Government, they may not render any account to any other Government, persons or organizations apart from the Government in whose interest they are employed, nor receive instructions from them.

ARTICLE 8:

Subject to the formal agreement of the Government of the expert's country of origin, the various types of contract governing African experts may be extended beyond their date of expiration.

Requests for the extension of the duration of the expert's services shall be made by the Government of the recipient country, shall state the motives and give an indication of the proposed extension three months at least before the expiration of the initial contract.

The opinion of the Government of the expert's country of origin on the possible extension of the contract must be received at least a month before the expiration of the initial contract, failing which the conditions set out in the first sub-paragraph above shall be regarded as having been fulfilled.

ARTICLE 9:

The Government of the country which enjoys the services of an African expert in consultation with the Government of his country of origin, may terminate the expert's contract before the date of its expiration:

- (a) If the services and conduct of the expert are unsatisfactory;
- (b) If the expert participates openly in political activities prohibited in the country;
- (c) If the expert's health is such that he can no longer discharge the duties for which he was employed.

ARTICLE 10:

Any expert recruited for a period of over a year shall, in the event of his contract being terminated before the date of its expiration, be given at least 60 days notice in writing.

For contracts under a year but exceeding three months, the notice given shall be at least 30 days in advance.

In any event, the letter of notification shall state the reasons for breaking the expert's term of service.

ARTICLE 11:

Apart from the cases provided for in Article 7 above, any expert engaged for a given period shall be able to complete the term of his contract. In particular the Government of the expert's country of origin may not on any account recall him before the expiration of his contract.

CHAPTER III

PREREQUISITES

ARTICLE 12:

Any African expert employed under the Programme shall be paid a salary commensurate with his grade, on the basis of the scale of salaries in force in the recipient country.

If the salary so calculated is less than the salary the expert would be paid in his country of origin, the interested party (i.e. the expert) shall receive a "topping up salary" to be paid by the donor country to his account in his country of origin.

If the salary so calculated is higher than the salary the expert would receive in his country of origin, there shall be no "levelling down deduction".

ARTICLE 13:

Any expert serving under the Programme shall receive similar allowances as those paid to civil servants of similar grade in the country where he is serving.

If the expert is entitled in his country of origin to an allowance not provided for in the country where he is serving, his country of origin shall continue to pay him that allowance subject to the proviso that the expert shall not be paid in the country where he is serving, certain allowances not provided for in his country of origin which would compensate for any loss he might sustain. The amount of the allowance in question shall be paid into his account in his country of origin.

ARTICLE 14:

The allowances described as post-adjustment allowances, separation allowances and any other inducement allowances shall be excluded from the Programme on the grounds that they are not consistent with the spirit of mutual assistance implicit in the establishment of the Programme.

ARTICLE 15:

- (a) Secure and furnish suitably a dwelling-house for the expert and his family or pay him a Housing Allowance which shall be established in advance, and which should vary according to the level and status of the expert; such allowance is intended to cover the costs incurred by him for procuring and furnishing a dwelling-house;

- (b) Exempt the expert from the payment of tax and other fiscal charges that apply to emoluments paid by his country of origin;
