Introduction

INTRODUCTION: One vision, one mission

Developed for readers and practitioners by the African Union Border Programme, this Volume gathers in Section I all the founding instruments and legal frameworks pertaining to international boundary issues on the African continent, and in Section II the reports, communiqués, and conclusions of the successive steps of policy implementation.

In May 2013, the African continent celebrated the Fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the Organization of African Unity, which became the African Union in 2002, and now Africa looks to the next fifty years with ambitious goals of economic growth, development, and security.

In 2014, the Resolution on Border Disputes between African States will, in its turn, have reached its fiftieth year. International boundaries have set States' scope for exercising their sovereign functions; the upholding of African States' territorial integrity is crucial for stability, which is a precondition for development.

The strong link between the objectives set by the African Union for the next fifty years and the implementation of the Border Programme is obvious, and this rests upon the interaction between growth, development, and security. Well delimited, demarcated and managed boundaries provide an environment of security and facilitate trade, which forms the basis of peoples' and States' prosperity.

Thus, a vision is drawn: a united and integrated Africa, with peaceful, open and prosperous boundaries. A mission is defined: preventing and resolving border disputes and promoting regional and continental integration through cross-border cooperation.

The 1963 Charter, and the 1964 Resolution that reinforced it, have been agreed upon by the African States themselves, and express a continental consensus about the compliance with existing boundaries. This consensus remains the cornerstone of African unity, peace, and security. The legal principle of uti possidetis has been regarded as a foundation of stability and good neighbourly relations.

The African Union has adopted a number of legal instruments and frameworks to manage common boundaries, which include the establishment of the OAU Boundary Commission in 1991, followed by the AU Border Programme in 2007, as well as the cross-border cooperation agreement in 2012.

The sole objective of those tools and policies is to reverse the mindset which considers the borders inherited from colonial times as instigators of conflict rather than as opportunities for cooperation and integration. The tools aim at transforming barriers into bridges, from the national to the regional and continental level integration, peace and security, which are prerequisites for development, and at the local level to foster interactions among populations.

This collection of official documents is the first one of a series of six publications designed and written by the African Union Border Programme to facilitate boundary management, from reaffirmation through delimitation and demarcation, to locally initiated cross-border cooperation. The collection aims at disseminating good practices of the States on the continent as widely as possible.

The African Union Border Programme contributes to achieving the following objectives: resolving issues that arise from the absence of delimitation and demarcation; facilitating the development of cross-border integration dynamics; supporting capacity building for the staff in charge of boundary management; mobilising financial resources for delimitation and demarcation operations; and cross-border cooperation projects.

It is a major common interest for all African States to overcome the inherited and accepted boundaries, for both their bilateral relationships and regional integration strategies as well as for the well-being of the populations in the border regions.

This Programme is evidence of a strong political ambition: to link up peace, security and development for the next fifty decades, and beyond.

ii RESOLUTION AHG/RES.16 (1) ON BORDER DISPUTES BETWEEN AFRICAN STATES, CAIRO, EGYPT, JULY 1964

The Assembly of Heads of State and Government meeting in its First Ordinary Session in Cairo, UAR, from 17 to 21 July 1964,

Considering that border problems constitute a grave and permanent factor of dissension;

Conscious of the existence of extra-African manoeuvres aimed at dividing African States;

Considering further that the borders of African States, on the day of their independence, constitute a tangible reality;

Recalling the establishment in the course of the Second Ordinary Session of the Council of the Committee of Eleven charged with studying further measures for strengthening African Unity;

Recognising the imperious necessity of settling, by peaceful means and within a strictly African framework, all disputes between African States;

Recalling further that all Member States have pledged, under Article IV of the Charter of African Unity, to respect scrupulously all principles laid down in paragraph 3 of Article III of the Charter of the Organization of African Unity:

- 1 SOLEMNLY REAFFIRMS the strict respect by all Member States of the Organization for the principles laid down in paragraph 3 of Article III of the Charter of the Organization of African Unity;
- 2 SOLEMNLY DECLARES that all Member States pledge themselves to respect the borders existing on their achievement of national independence.

iii ESTABLISHMENT OF AN OAU BOUNDARIES COMMISSION (PROPOSED BY THE FEDERAL REPUBLIC OF NIGERIA), (DOCUMENT CM/1119 (XXXVII), ADD.1), NAIROBI, KENYA, JUNE 1981

The Embassy of the Federal Republic of Nigeria presents its compliments to the General Secretariat of the Organization of the African Unity and, with reference to its Note. 047B/81 of 23rd February, 1981, has the honour to request that the attached document on the Proposal for the Establishment of an OAU Boundaries Commission be circulated to all OAU Member States during the current 36th Session of the Council of Ministers.

The document is being submitted now with the hope that all Member States will be able to familiarise themselves with its contents as well as make appropriate comments on them to allow for a useful discussion of the item at the 37th Ordinary Session of the OAU Council of Ministers.

The Embassy of the Federal Republic of Nigeria avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the General Secretariat of the Organization of African Unity the assurances of its highest consideration.

Proposal for the establishment of an OAU Boundaries Commission

The problems caused by the indeterminate character of most African boundaries are becoming very grave, and require urgent attention at the continental level. In many cases, some inter-African borders are ill-defined, and even where they are clearly defined, such borders are often not well demarcated. In virtually all cases, these borders are colonial legacies, i.e. the products of European rivalries and territorial acquisitions in Africa. Even though these boundaries have been accepted, on the whole, in postcolonial Africa, there are often unintended border violations, generally by the security police because of the lack of well-defined alignments and demarcations.

Apart from the problems caused by the indeterminate character of land boundaries, there is even greater uncertainty over maritime boundaries, some of which remain largely ill-defined. The existence of an ill-defined maritime boundary constitutes such a serious potential for tensions and border conflicts in Africa, that no time should be further lost in resolving this serious problem.

In light of these facts, it is considered desirable that an OAU Boundaries Commission be created to which all issues relating to border problems on which bilateral agreement is not reached, may be referred, where the parties concerned agree to do so. The essence of this proposal is to de-politicise border problems, so that they are then considered, in the main, as technical problems. The Commission will consist of experts, and all OAU Member States will have the right to be represented on the Commission whenever cases in which they have a direct interest are referred to it.

iv RESOLUTION CM/RES.870 (XXXVII) ON THE PROPOSED ESTABLISHMENT OF AN OAU
BOUNDARIES COMMISSION, NAIROBI,
KENYA, 15 to 21 JUNE 1981

The Council of Ministers of the Organization of African Unity meeting in its Thirty-seventh Ordinary Session in Nairobi, Kenya, from 15 to 26 June 1981,

Having been apprised by the Delegation of the Federal Republic of Nigeria of an item concerning the establishment of an OAU Boundaries Commission (DOC.CM/1119 (XXXVII) Add.1,

Having heard the statement of the delegation of the Federal Republic of Nigeria on the issue,

Bearing in mind its decision on the setting up of a Ministerial Committee:

- 1 RECOMMENDS that the issue be referred to the said Ministerial Committee established by the Council of Ministers at its Thirty-seventh Ordinary Session for consideration under its various aspects;
- 2 REQUESTS the OAU Secretary-General to transmit to Member States the views and comments expressed during the discussion so as to obtain their opinion on the establishment of an OAU Boundaries Commission.

v RESOLUTION CM/RES.1069 (XLIV) ON PEACE AND SECURITY IN AFRICA THROUGH NEGOTIATED SETTLEMENT OF BORDER CONFLICTS, ADDIS ABABA, ETHIOPIA, JULY 1986

The Council of Ministers of the Organization of African Unity, meeting at its Forty-fourth Ordinary Session in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, from 21 to 26 July 1986,

Recalling Resolution AHG/Res.16 (I) adopted by the First Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the Organization of African Unity, meeting in Cairo from 17 to 21 July 1964,

Considering that border [sic] problems constitute one of the most intricate problems inherited by Africa from its colonial past,

Further considering that the struggle for the liberation of Africa from colonialism and its after-effects and the establishment of an atmosphere of peace, security, economic and social progress can only be achieved through the total elimination of sources of tension on the borders of Member States,

- 1 REAFFIRMS its adherences to the principle of peaceful settlement of border conflicts between states;
- 2 REAFFIRMS the attachment of African peoples and countries to Resolution AHG 16 (1) adopted by the Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the Organization of African Unity held in Cairo from 17 to 21 July 1984;
- 3 ENCOURAGES Member States to undertake or pursue bilateral negotiations with a view to demarcating their common borders with beacons;
- 4 REQUESTS the Secretary-General of the OAU to follow-up the implementation of this resolution and to report to the next OAU Assembly of Heads of State and Government.

vi THE ESTABLISHMENT OF AN OAU BOUNDARIES COMMISSION
(CM/1659 (LIV) ADD.2),
ABUJA, NIGERIA, MAY to JUNE 1991

1. Antecedents

- 1 It has been aptly observed that frontiers are indeed “the razor’s edge on which hang suspended the modern issues of war or peace, or life or death to nations”. Although the statement has drawn attention to both the positive and negative dimensions of the “issues”, actual events and supportive studies have emphasised the “war” and “death” ends almost to the total neglect of the “peace” and “life” sides of the border equation.
- 2 The modern history of Europe, homeland of the nation-state and its border problems, confronts us in Africa and the wider world of national states with only one of two basic policy choices: the path of friction, war, and human tragedy, which constituted the emphasis in the era from the Treaty of Westphalia in 1648 to the end of the Second World War on the one hand, and, on the other, the option of peaceful cooperation characterised by the regional integration and trans-border cooperation efforts of the period since 1945. While in the one era of negative nationalism, the basic concern was for boundary maintenance and excessive attachment to the notion of territorial sovereignty; in the other period, the dedication has been for the simplification of the border and its systematic devaluation as a barrier.
- 3 The Berlin West African Conference of 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 marked for Africa, the inception of the modern or European-type nation-state system with a demand a precise and, characteristically, artificial, often arbitrary territorial framework.
- 4 The Founding Fathers of the OAU were quite aware of the problems of peace and stability posed by the territorial structure and boundaries of these States they had inherited from the erstwhile colonial authority who created the States. Witness, for example, Article III paragraph 3 of the OAU Charter of 1963 whereby the Member States solemnly affirmed and declared their adherence to the principle of respect for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of each State.

- 5 The issues of boundaries and boundary disputes constituted the specific subject of resolution of the Assembly of Heads of State and Government meeting in its very First Ordinary Session in Cairo in July 1964. In a manner that brought Africa close to the uti possidetis position of Latin American States, the Cairo Summit “solemnly affirms the strict respect by all Member States of the Organization of the principles laid down in paragraph 3 of Article III of the Charter of the Organization of African Unity”. The Assembly of the Heads of State and Government at the Cairo Summit in 1964 further “solemnly declares that all Member States pledge to respect the existing borders in their achievement of national independence”.
- 6 As if to recall the opposite effect of the Berlin Treaty of 26 February 1885 which, instead of placing a control on European Powers’ territorial rivalry in Africa, merely aggravated the pace of the scramble and the partition, the provisions of the OAU Charter and the back-up Declarations of the Cairo Summit in 1964 were not known to have stemmed the tide of boundary disputes and conflicts in the continent. The number of actual border wars and threats of war is simply legion. To the long list of cases of conflicts arising from territorial claims specific States have made over their proximate neighbours may be added the equally numerous cases of civil war incidents and secession attempts within borders of a good number of the Member States. Accordingly, Africa became the theatre of the most devastating wars that have occurred in the world since 1945.
- 7 The causes of these conflicts vary as widely as the specific cases themselves. However, with particular reference to the international dimension, the generally indeterminate character of the borders and the phenomena of trans-border resources can be seen as crucial factors which increase the likelihood of conflict. Whatever the causes, the border wars and threats of war have continued to compromise the issues of peace and stability and proved completely detrimental to the cause of regional integration as well as orderly economic planning and development of the continent.
- 8 It was to redress this situation that the OAU Council of Ministers at its 37th Ordinary Session received a proposal from Nigeria on the establishment of an OAU Boundary Commission as a specialised border dispute solving institution of the continental body. The Council of Ministers discussed the proposal and recommended that the issue be referred to an ad hoc Ministerial Committee established by the Council of Ministers at the 37th Ordinary Session for a more detailed study. The OAU Secretary-General was also requested by the Council of Ministers to transmit to Member States, the views and comments expressed during the discussion so as to obtain their opinions on the establishment of an OAU Boundary Commission.

- 9 One full decade thereafter, there has been no follow-up action of whatever nature since the Meeting of the Council of Ministers' Ordinary Session in Nairobi in 1981. Meanwhile, the raison d'être for the proposal to establish an OAU Boundary Commission has remained both alive and vibrant: Border conflicts have increased in number and intensity; the peace and stability of the continent remain compromised; and the chances for success of the regional integration endeavours are constantly being put to flight. The present effort to resuscitate the proposal for the establishment of the OAU Boundary Commission is predicated upon the objective necessity of a mechanism to solve present border conflicts and prevent future ones so that the path for socio-economic progress can be streamlined and assured.

2. The structure of the proposed OAU Boundary Commission

The Commission will be a body of about 20 to 25 Border Experts drawn from five constituent subdivisions of the OAU. These experts/members of the Commission should be selected from academic backgrounds and professions with relevance to boundary issues. They should be a mixed selection of reputed border scholars and practitioners with backgrounds in history, geography (including cartography), law, economics regional planning and geodesy. The Chairmanship of the Commission should be conferred on an African jurist, historian, or a geographer with a prominent international reputation.

The Commission should be served by a distinct administrative division of the OAU General Secretariat. The Commission's Administrative Office in the OAU General Secretariat should be headed by an African border expert with an international reputation to the OAU Secretary-General in view of the sensitive and often dynamic nature of his duties.

It will be the responsibility of such a Director to organise the Commission's Administrative Office in such a way as to make it an effective instrument for the fulfilment of the Commission's overall objectives.

The Staff of the Commission's Secretariat will be employed on the basis of need and on salaries and conditions of service as may be determined from time to time by the Commission under the overall guidance of the OAU Secretary-General.

3. The objectives of the OAU Boundary Commission

These include the following:

- (i) to liaise with National Boundary Commissions in Member States and serve as a clearing house for the boundary claims of Member States;
- (ii) to engage in the registration of claims and of agreed alignments, thereby providing a multilateral notification system, which will help resolve boundary problems;
- (iii) to organise an active research and documentation centre that will give rise to a pool of boundary service corps from which boundary experts can be seconded to Member States lacking such skilled personnel;
- (iv) to serve as the repository of the official maps and boundary legal instruments of Member States, which will facilitate the determination of future disputes between Member States;
- (v) to assist Member States in resolving border disputes within and between Member States;
- (vi) to stimulate cooperation in the planning, development, and joint exploitation of trans-border socio-economic resources; and
- (vii) to do any other things relating to its general competence, which may be assigned to it from time to time by the Council of Ministers or the Assembly of Heads of State and Government.

4. The imperative of national boundary commissions for member states

- 4.1 This imperative derives from the first of the aforementioned functions of the OAU Boundary Commission. For effective handling of boundary issues and in view of their crucial importance and urgency, every Member State should endeavour to set up its own distinct National Boundary Commission. Its design, however, should be left entirely to individual Member States whose peculiar circumstances have to be taken into consideration.
- 4.2. However, since such Boundary Commissions are to operate within the general framework of the operations of the OAU

Commission and are to relate to one another on a bilateral basis across shared boundaries of Member States, it is important that their functions and competencies be as comparable as possible to ensure their parity values.

- 4.3. The functions of the National Boundary Commissions will be:
 - (i) to settle disputes within and between limitrophe Member States;
 - (i) to study and determine uncertainties along national boundaries;
 - (i) to ensure maintenance and repair of boundary markers and vistas;
 - (i) to undertake the creation of public official maps of the country; and
 - (ii) jointly with National Boundary Commissions of limitrophe Member States, to undertake cooperative programmes of action aimed at preventing border disputes, including exploration and exploitation of trans-border natural and cultural resources.

5. Regional boundary commissions

- 5.1 Between the National Boundary Commission and the Continental Boundary Commission, there will be an intermediate border problem-solving mechanism that will operate at the level of Africa's constituent regions.
- 5.2. The Regional Boundary Commission replicates the OAU Boundary Commission and will operate within the framework of regional bodies, such as ECOWAS and ECCAS, as may be in place. National Boundary Commissions may attend meetings and related activities of such Regional Commissions as observers.

6. Guiding principles of operation

- 6.1 The overall objective for the establishment of various categories of Boundary Commissions under the auspices of the OAU is to develop for the entire Continent, a new border regime in which boundary issues would be depoliticised and treated as a purely technical subject.
- 6.2. The Commissions at the various levels are to operate not as tribunals but as specialised border problem-solving institutions with capacity not only for boundary conflict resolution but also for crisis prevention and confidence-building.

- 6.3. The new border regime which the Commissions aim to promote within and, bilaterally and multilaterally, between Member States is to convert international boundaries in Africa from their prevalent postures as ramparts into new roles and functions as bridges. The ultimate effect in view is a reconceptualisation of shared borders and borderlands, which no longer provoke conflict but which are factors of opportunity for positive international interaction that will facilitate the process of regional integration on the continent.

7. The status of the decisions of the commission

- 7.1 As with similar bodies, the decision of the Commission at different levels will be recommendatory and advisory to the continental, regional and national authorities within those ambits they operate.
- 7.2. The credibility of the Commission must then have to depend on the extent to which the decisions or recommendations can be seen by all sides concerned as impartial and objective. Accordingly, actions taken by the Commission must be rest on an exhaustive and dispassionate examination of available facts and overall considerations for trans-border cooperation in planning and development.

8. Funding

- 8.1 The OAU Boundary Commission should be funded from the budget of the OAU General Secretariat, just as the Regional Boundary Commissions are financed from the fund of the regional organisations concerned.
- 8.2 The National Boundary Commission, based on appropriate domestic legislations of the distinct Member States, are funded from the national budget.
- 8.3 Joint Programmes, sponsored by the National Boundary Commissions in respect of certain shared boundaries, should be funded on the basis of proportionate contributions by Member States involved.

AGREE AS FOLLOWS:

I. CORE VALUES

To respect and abide by the following indivisible core values, all of primary importance, in guiding our relations:

- (a) Every African State is sovereign. Every State respects the rights inherent in the territorial integrity and political independence of all other African States, without prejudice to the provisions of Article 4 of the AU Constitutive Act, sections (h) and (j) and other relevant international instruments.
- (b) The centrality of security as a multi-dimensional phenomenon that goes beyond military considerations and embraces all aspects of human existence, including economic, political and social dimensions of individual, family, community and national life.
- (c) Peace and security are central to the realisation of development of both the state and individuals. Thus the security of the African people, their land and property must be safeguarded to ensure stability, development and cooperation of African countries.
- (d) The security of each African country is inseparably linked to that of other African countries and the African continent as a whole.
- (e) The plight of African Refugees and Internally Displaced Persons constitutes a scar on the conscience of African governments and people.
- (f) Africa's strategic and natural resources are the property of the people of Africa and the leadership should exploit them for the common good of the people of the continent, having due regard for the need to restore, preserve and protect the environment.

- (g) Uncontrolled spread of small arms and light weapons as well as the problem of landmines constitutes a threat to peace and security on the African continent.

5) National and regional crime reduction and prevention programmes

Establish by 2005 and strengthen, in places where they already exist, national and regional crime reduction and prevention programmes to deal effectively with the scourge of criminality in Africa. Such programmes should, through the harmonisation of criminal and penal codes and effective information sharing system, promote, strengthen and foster joint strategies for the management and control of all forms of crimes within the region. The programme should incorporate a mechanism for annual performance assessment. By 2005, establish effective monitoring of crime statistics by policing agencies in each country.

That mechanism should incorporate effective interlinkages and coordination at regional, continental, and international levels. As part of this process, Member States undertake to facilitate early response aimed at the prevention of conflicts.

9) Resource-based conflicts

Given the links between illegal exploitation of resources and conflicts, the Peace and Security Council should develop by 2005, a framework for addressing the problem of illegal exploitation of resources in Africa and combating, in a concerted manner, all networks plundering the resources of Africa and using them to fuel conflicts.

The different inputs will be cross-referenced to provide a clear and accurate representation.
- 5 Regional Economic Communities shall also play a role in these reviews. The Executive Heads of Regional Economic Communities should thus be invited to the Review Meetings of plenipotentiaries and senior officials.
- 6 In carrying out the tasks of monitoring performance, the Coordinating Unit of the CSSDCA in the OAU/AU shall coordinate closely with the national and regional focal points. It shall seek the cooperation of regional and international bodies in the context of the relevant Calabashes on Security, Stability, Development and Cooperation, as well as support and assistance from other relevant international organisations or institutions and other cooperation agencies especially the ECA, ADB, UNDP, IMF, IOM and IBRD to promote the realisation of the objectives of the CSSDCA process.

- 7 The CSSDCA Process will also be supported by visitation panels composed of eminent, reputable Africans to carry out professional, independent and objective on spot assessments in two-year circles as part of the preparation for the bi-annual Standing Conferences of the CSSDCA. Such visitation panels will raise the visibility and credibility of the process and augment the permanent and continuous monitoring process.

We express our determination to respect and apply fully the undertakings, as set forth in the present Memorandum of Understanding in all aspects, in our mutual relations and cooperation, in order to assure each of our Member States the benefits resulting from the respect and application of these undertakings by all.

We are convinced that respect for these undertakings will encourage the development of normal and friendly relations and the progress of cooperation among our countries and peoples. We are also convinced that respect for the core values and commitments contained in this Memorandum of Understanding will encourage the development of contacts among our countries, which, in time, would contribute to better mutual understanding of our commitments. We commit ourselves to respect and implement all the above undertakings in conformity with Articles 9 (e) and 23 (2) of the Constitutive Act of the African Union.

iii FIRST DECLARATION ON THE AFRICAN UNION BORDER PROGRAMME AND ITS IMPLEMENTATION MODALITIES AS ADOPTED BY THE CONFERENCE OF AFRICAN MINISTERS IN CHARGE OF BORDER ISSUES, ADDIS ABABA, ETHIOPIA, 4 to 7 JUNE 2007, EX.CL/352(XI)

PREAMBLE

- 1 We, the Ministers in Charge of Border Issues in the Member States of the African Union, meeting in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, on 7 June 2007 to deliberate on the African Union Border Programme and its implementation modalities:
 - (a) Inspired by the conviction that the achievement of greater unity and solidarity among African countries and peoples require the reduction of the burden of borders separating African States;
 - (b) Convinced that, by transcending the borders as barriers and promoting them as bridges linking one State to another, Africa can boost the on-going efforts to integrate the continent, strengthen its unity, and promote peace, security and stability through the structural prevention of conflicts;

(c) Guided by:

- (i) the principle of the respect of borders existing on achievement of national independence, as enshrined in the Charter of the Organization of African Unity (OAU), Resolution AHG/Res.16(I) on border disputes between African States, adopted by the 1st Ordinary Session of the Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the OAU, held in Cairo, Egypt, in July 1964, and article 4 (b) of the Constitutive Act of the African Union;
- (ii) the principle of negotiated settlement of border disputes, as provided for notably in Resolution CM/Res.1069 (XLIV) on peace and security in Africa through negotiated settlement of boundary disputes, adopted by the 44th Ordinary Session of the Council of Ministers of the OAU, held in Addis Ababa in July 1986, as well as in the relevant provisions of the Protocol relating to the establishment of the Peace and Security Council of the African Union;
- (iii) the shared commitment to pursue the work of border delimitation and demarcation as factors for peace, security and economic and social progress, as affirmed notably in Resolution CM/Res.1069(XLIV), as well as in the Memorandum of Understanding on Security, Stability, Development and Cooperation in Africa (CSSDCA), adopted by the Assembly of Heads of State and Government, held in Durban (South Africa) in July 2002, which provides for the delimitation and demarcation of African boundaries by 2012, where such an exercise has not yet taken place;
- (iv) the will to accelerate and deepen the political and socio-economic integration of the continent and provide it with a popular base, as stipulated in the Constitutive Act, and
- (v) the decision adopted by the 8th Ordinary Session of the Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the African Union, held in Addis Ababa in January 2007, encouraging the Commission to pursue its efforts at structural prevention of conflicts, especially through the implementation of the Border Programme of the African Union.

(d) Having considered the report of the meeting of government experts [BP/EXP/3(II)], held in Addis Ababa from 4 to 5 June 2007, and on the basis of the Summary Note on the African Union Border Programme and its Implementation Modalities [BP/EXP/2(II)].

HAVE AGREED AS FOLLOWS:

On the justification of the AU Border Programme

- 2 We underscore the relevance of the African Union Border Programme, based on the need:
 - (a) to address the persistence of the border delimitation and demarcation issues: Subject to an inventory to be undertaken, it is estimated that less than a quarter of African borders have been delimited and demarcated. This situation is fraught with risks, as the lack of delimitation and demarcation gives rise to 'undefined zones', within which the application of national sovereignty poses problems, and constitutes a real obstacle to the deepening of the integration process;
 - (b) to address cross-border criminal activities;
 - (c) to consolidate the gains made in the regional integration process, as demonstrated by the existence of the Regional Economic Communities (RECs) and of numerous large-scale cooperation initiatives; and
 - (d) to facilitate the development of cross-border integration dynamics, which are sustained by local stakeholders.
- 3 We stress the need to put in place a new form of pragmatic border management, aimed at promoting peace, security and stability, but also at facilitating the integration process and sustainable development in Africa.

On the objectives of the AU Border Programme

- 4 We request the Commission of the African Union to coordinate the implementation of this Programme whose overall goal is the structural prevention of conflicts and the promotion of regional and continental integration and, more specifically:
 - (a) the facilitation of, and support to, delimitation and demarcation of African boundaries where such exercise has not yet taken place;
 - (b) the reinforcement of the integration process, within the framework of the RECs and other large-scale cooperation initiatives;

- (c) the development, within the framework of the RECs and other regional integration initiatives, of local initiative cross-border cooperation; and
- (d) capacity building in the area of border management, including the development of special education and research programmes.

On the implementation principles of the AU Border Programme

- 5 We note that the implementation of the AU Border Programme will be effected at several levels – national, regional and continental, and that the responsibility of each of these levels should be determined on the basis of the principle of subsidiarity and respect of the sovereignty of States.

(a) Border delimitation and demarcation

- (i) The delimitation and demarcation of boundaries depend primarily on the sovereign decision of the States. They must take the necessary steps to facilitate the process of delimitation and demarcation of African borders, including maritime boundaries, where such an exercise has not yet taken place, by respecting, as much as possible, the time-limit set in the Solemn Declaration on the CSSDCA. We encourage the States to undertake and pursue bilateral negotiations on all problems relating to the delimitation and demarcation of their borders, including those pertaining to the rights of the affected populations, with a view to finding appropriate solutions to these problems.
- (ii) The Regional Economic Communities and the African Union should assist the States in mobilising the necessary resources and expertise, including by facilitating exchange of experiences and promoting inexpensive border delimitation and demarcation practices.
- (iii) The Commission of the African Union should conduct a comprehensive inventory of the state of African boundaries and coordinate the efforts of the Regional Economic Communities, and launch a large-scale initiative aimed at sensitising the international community on the need to mobilise the required resources and any other necessary support. On their part, the former colonial powers should submit all information in their possession regarding the delimitation and demarcation of African borders.

(b) Local cross-border cooperation

- (i) The local stakeholders should be the direct initiators of cross-border cooperation under the auspices of the States.
- (ii) The States should, with the assistance of the African Union, facilitate local initiatives and mandate the Regional Economic Communities to implement regional support programmes for cross-border cooperation.
- (iii) The Regional Economic Communities should provide the legal framework necessary for the formalisation of cross-border cooperation and establish regional funds for financing such cooperation.
- (iv) The Commission of the African Union should take the necessary steps to ensure that cross-border cooperation is included in the major international initiatives launched in favour of the continent, as well as play a coordination role and facilitate the exchange of information and good practices between the Regional Economic Communities.

(c) Capacity building

The African Union Border Programme should, on the basis of close coordination between the different levels concerned, carry out an inventory of African institutions that offer training in this domain, explore avenues for collaboration with relevant training centres outside Africa, and, on the basis of the above, design a capacity building programme in the area of border management.

On partnership and resource mobilisation

- 6 We request the Commission of the African Union to coordinate and implement the Border Programme on the basis of inclusive governance involving the Member States, the Regional Economic Communities, parliamentarians, locally elected representatives and civil society, as well as the European border movement, particularly the Association of European Border Regions, the United Nations and other African Union partners having experience in cross-border cooperation.

On the initial measures for launching the Border Programme and the follow-up of this Declaration

- 7 We request the Commission of the African Union to take the following initial measures:
 - (a) launching of a Pan-African survey of borders, through a questionnaire to be sent to all Member States, in order to facilitate the delimitation and demarcation of African borders;
 - (b) identification of pilot regions or initiatives for the rapid development of regional support programmes on cross-border cooperation, as well as support for the establishment of regional funds for financing local cross-border cooperation;
 - (c) working out modalities for cooperation with other regions of the world to benefit from their experiences and to build the necessary partnerships;
 - (d) initiating an assessment with regard to capacity building;
 - (e) initiating the preparation of a continental legal instrument on cross-border cooperation; and
 - (f) launching a partnership and resource mobilisation process for the implementation of the AU Border Programme.
- 8 We recommend to institutionalise the Conference of African Ministers in Charge of Border Issues, which should be held on a regular basis.
- 9 We request the Chairperson of the Commission of the African Union, as soon as the present Declaration is endorsed by the Executive Council, to take the necessary steps for its implementation, including the enhancement of the capacity of the Conflict Management Division of the Peace and Security Department of the Commission, and to report regularly to the relevant organs of the African Union on the status of implementation.

- 6 EXPRESSES ITS GRATITUDE to the Government of the Federal Republic of Germany for its assistance to the implementation of the AUBP, and URGES the other African Union (AU) partners to support the implementation of the AUBP and, where relevant, honour the commitments made;
- 7 ENCOURAGES the Commission to take initiatives to develop cross-border cooperation, both as an indispensable complement of delimitation and demarcation of African borders, where this has not yet been done;
- 8 FURTHER ENCOURAGES the Commission to take all the necessary steps to ensure that the 2012 deadline set by the Memorandum of Understanding on Security, Stability, Development and Cooperation in Africa (CSSDCA) for the delineation and demarcation of all borders is achieved as much as possible;

- 10 ALSO REQUESTS the Commission to continue to work actively towards the establishment of partnerships with organisations that have experience in the management of border issues, in particular the United Nations, the European Union and the Organization of American States;
- 11 FURTHER REQUESTS the Commission to report regularly on the implementation of the AUBP.

vi SECOND DECLARATION ON THE AFRICAN UNION BORDER PROGRAMME AND THE MODALITIES FOR THE PURSUIT AND ACCELERATION OF ITS IMPLEMENTATION, ADDIS ABABA, ETHIOPIA, 25 MARCH 2010, EX.CL/352(XI)

PREAMBLE

- 1 We, the Ministers of the Member States of the African Union (AU) in charge of Border Issues, meeting in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, on 25 March 2010, on the occasion of our 2nd Conference, to deliberate on the African Union Border Programme (AUBP) and agree on the modalities for the pursuit and acceleration of its implementation:
 - (a) Recalling the Declaration on the African Union Border Programme and its Implementation Modalities [BP/MIN/Decl.(II)], adopted on the occasion of our first Conference held in Addis Ababa, on 7 June 2007, as well as decisions EX.CL/Dec.370(XI) and EX.CL/461 (XIV), adopted by the 11th and 14th Ordinary Sessions of the Executive Council, held respectively in Accra, Ghana, from 25 to 29 June 2007, and in Addis Ababa, from 29 to 30 January 2009;
 - (b) Further recalling the relevant principles which underpin the AUBP, particularly:
 - (i) the principle of the respect of borders existing on achievement of national independence, as enshrined in the Charter of the Organization of African Unity (OAU), Resolution AHG/Res.16(I) on Border Disputes between African States adopted in Cairo in July 1964, and the Constitutive Act of the African Union,
 - (ii) the principle of negotiated settlement of border disputes, as provided for notably in Resolution CM/Res.1069(XLIV) on Peace and Security in Africa through Negotiated Settlement of Border Disputes, adopted by the 44th Ordinary Session of the Council of Ministers of the OAU, held in Addis Ababa, in July 1986, as well as in the relevant provisions of the Protocol Relating to the Establishment of the Peace and Security Council of the AU,
 - (iii) the shared commitment to pursue the work of border delimitation and demarcation as factors for peace, security and economic and social progress, as affirmed notably in Resolution CM/Res.1069(XLIV), as well as in the Memo-

- randum of Understanding on Security, Stability, Development and Cooperation in Africa (CSSDCA), adopted by the Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the OAU , held in Durban (South Africa), in July 2002,
- (iv) the will to accelerate and strengthen the political and socio-economic integration of the continent and to provide it with a popular base, as stipulated in the Constitutive Act.

- (c) Having considered the report of the meeting of Governmental experts, held in Addis Ababa from 22 to 23 March 2010, and on the basis of the documents presented by the different experts and resource persons:

Have agreed as follows:

On the achievements of the AUBP since its launching

- 2 We note with satisfaction the considerable progress made in the implementation of the AUBP. In particular, we welcome the holding of the various regional sensitization workshops on the AUBP: Kampala (Uganda), in September 2008, for East Africa; Algiers (Algeria), in October 2008, for North Africa; Ouagadougou (Burkina Faso), in April 2009, for West Africa; Libreville (Gabon), in May 2009, for Central Africa; and Windhoek (Namibia), in October 2009, for Southern Africa.
- 3 We further note with satisfaction the organization by the AU Commission in Maputo, Mozambique, in December 2008, of the 2nd International Symposium on the Management of Land, River and Lake Boundaries and the holding in Accra, Ghana, in November 2009, of the Conference on Maritime Boundaries and the Continental Shelf.
- 4 Regarding more specifically the delimitation and demarcation of African borders where such an exercise has not yet taken place, we note the launching of the Pan-African survey of borders, through the questionnaire sent to all Member States and the ongoing process for the establishment, within the Commission, of an Information Boundary System, as well as the efforts made by some countries for the delimitation and demarcation of their borders.
- 5 Concerning cross-border cooperation, we note the holding in Bamako (Mali), on 3 and 4 November 2009, of the meeting of governmental experts on the draft Convention on Cross-Border Cooperation, as well as the initiatives taken at national, bilateral and regional levels to promote this cooperation, whether at local level or within the framework of the Regional Economic Communities (RECs) or other regional initiatives.

- 6 Regarding capacity building and popularization, we express satisfaction at the creation of a special unit in charge of the implementation of the AUBP within the Department of Peace and Security of the AU Commission, as well as at the ongoing efforts for the publication of two books entitled respectively: “From Barriers to Bridges – the African Union Border Programme” and “Boundary Delimitation and Demarcation – An African Union Border Programme Practical Handbook”.
- 7 On partnership and resource mobilization, we acknowledge the measures taken by the AU Commission to establish the necessary partnerships and to mobilize the resources required for the implementation of the AUBP, in accordance with the initial measures for the launching of the Programme identified by the June 2007 Declaration. We particularly express our gratitude to Germany for its financial and technical support, through GTZ, for the implementation of the AUBP, as well as to other partners who have provided technical support.
- 8 We congratulate the AU Commission and the RECs, as well as the Member States concerned for the results so far achieved, and urge all the stakeholders to persevere in their efforts and to work closely together for the realization of the objectives of the AUBP.

On the challenges to be addressed

- 9 In spite of the strides thus made, we observe that there is still much to be done in order to translate into reality the commitments enshrined in our Declaration of June 2007 and contribute effectively to the realization of the objectives of the AUBP, namely the structural prevention of conflicts and the strengthening of the integration processes on the continent. We note that the implementation of the AUBP faces many challenges, including:
 - (i) inadequate technical and financial support for the delimitation and demarcation of African borders;
 - (ii) lack of a holistic view of the needs in terms of delimitation and demarcation, due to the limited number of responses received from Member States to the questionnaire sent to them. This situation hinders efforts for resource mobilization;

- (iii) absence of a continental legal framework for the development of cross-border cooperation and the lack of funds to finance local initiative cross-border cooperation activities;
- (iv) lack of sustained interaction between neighbouring States for the implementation of the various aspects of the AUBP;
- (v) inadequacy of existing human and technical capacities for the effective implementation of the AUBP.

10 We note that the majority of African borders are yet to be defined, and that this situation constitutes a hindrance in the efforts to promote peace and integration. We are also concerned by the persistence of border disputes, particularly those related to cross-border resources.

On measures to be taken to speed up the implementation of the AUBP

11 In this context, we reiterate our determination to redouble our efforts for the effective implementation of the AUBP and, to that end, to ensure the involvement of all the bodies concerned in our countries and to mobilize all the resources required for that purpose.

a) Border delimitation and demarcation

- 12 Mindful of the multidimensional and unifying aspect of the AUBP, and on the basis of the implementation principles enshrined in our Declaration of June 2007, particularly that of subsidiarity and respect for the sovereignty of Member States, we agree as follows:
- (i) commitment by Member States to speed up the delimitation and demarcation process of borders where such an exercise has not yet taken place, it being understood that this exercise depends primarily on the sovereign decision of the States. They must take the necessary steps to facilitate the process of delimitation and demarcation of African borders, including maritime boundaries, where such an exercise has not yet taken place, by respecting, as much as possible, the time-limit set in the Solemn Declaration on the CSSDCA, which provides for the completion of this operation by 2012;
 - (ii) the transmission, to the AU Commission, by the Member States which have not yet done so, at the latest in June 2010, of the questionnaire duly filled on the status of African borders sent to them in April 2008;

- (iii) on the basis of the responses of Member States and other relevant factors, the submission by the Commission to the relevant organs of the AU, at the latest in January 2011, of recommendations on the extension of the 2012 deadline or on the granting of individual exemptions;
- (iv) the creation, where appropriate, by Member States of structures in charge of borders and other relevant institutions and transmission to the Commission of their particulars, as well as those of the national experts, in order to facilitate inter-African cooperation in the area of boundary delimitation and demarcation, through the exchange of experiences and the provision of experts, including the establishment, by the Commission, of a pool of experts to assist Member States;
- (v) the allocation by Member States of sufficient budgetary resources for the financing of delimitation and demarcation activities;
- (vi) the adoption of measures to regularly maintain and, where required, densify boundary beacons, in order to make them more visible such that the risks of disputes are reduced. In this respect, Member States should workout and submit to the AU Commission detailed plans, including the related financial costs, in order to facilitate the mobilization of the necessary resources;
- (vii) the need for Member States, in case of border dispute, to make use of all the possible peaceful options, including recourse to negotiation, mediation, conciliation, inquiry, regional and international arbitration and other legal mechanisms and processes, including the International Court of Justice, based on mutual consent. In this respect, we request all the Member States which have not yet done so to take the necessary steps to sign and ratify the Protocol on the Statute of the African Court of Justice and Human Rights. We encourage the Peace and Security Council (PSC) of the AU and the Chairperson of the Commission to fully make use of the powers conferred on them by the PSC Protocol to contribute to the prevention and settlement of border disputes;
- (viii) the acquisition by Member States of up-to-date mapping and cartographic information, as well as of modern

- survey equipments, in order to facilitate the delimitation and demarcation processes;
- (ix) the establishment, where necessary, by Member States of joint Commissions with their neighbours for the delimitation and demarcation, as well as the management of their borders, and the search, where required, of data on their borders in the colonial archives;
 - (x) the development by Member States of strategies to sensitize border populations on the purpose of delimitation and demarcation exercises, so that clearly defined and demarcated borders are seen as a valuable tool for peace, stability and development of border areas;
 - (xi) the wide dissemination by the AU Commission of the Handbook on Delimitation and Demarcation to the relevant officials, including field officers involved in delimitation and demarcation.

b) Cross-border cooperation

13 In order to inject new dynamism into the initiatives for cross-border cooperation, we agree on the following:

- (i) the launching by all the RECs and other relevant regional initiatives, before the end of 2010, of comprehensive inventories of existing cross-border cooperation initiatives and agreements in the various regions, in order to popularize them, assess their state of implementation and make recommendations on how they could contribute further to the achievements of the objectives of the AUBP. The AU Commission should coordinate the undertaking of these inventories;
- (ii) the highlighting, to the extent possible, of the links between all the current initiatives for cross-border cooperation and the relevant provisions of the AUBP, with the view of placing them under the umbrella of the Programme and sensitizing all actors involved about its objectives;
- (iii) the strengthening of cross-border cooperation in the area of the prevention and fight against terrorism and cross-border crime, including drug trafficking, and other cross-border threats, such as piracy and other illicit acts on sea, it being understood that the relevant AU institutions and other international institutions should play their rightful role in this respect;

- (iv) the establishment by Member States that have not yet done so of joint cross-border cooperation mechanisms with their neighbours, by 2011;
- (v) the adoption by the concerned countries, of additional measures for local initiative cross-border cooperation, including the preparation of appropriate legal instruments, the speeding up of the creation of regional Funds, as recommended by the June 2007 Declaration on the AUBP;
- (vi) the encouragement, where necessary, for the joint management of natural cross-border resources, while being guided by relevant experiences in the rest of the continent. The AU Commission should facilitate the exchange of experiences in this regard;
- (vii) the elaboration by the Commission of a Handbook on cross-border cooperation for the benefit of local stakeholders.

14 We take note of the discussions of the meeting of Governmental experts on the draft Convention on Cross-Border Cooperation. We request the Commission to review the draft Convention in the light of these discussions and to organize, before the end of the year, a new meeting of Governmental experts, to be followed by a Conference of African Ministers in Charge of Border Issues, in order to finalize this instrument for submission to the relevant organs of the AU, at their ordinary sessions scheduled to take place in January/February 2011.

c) Capacity building

- 15 We reiterate the importance of capacity building for the successful implementation of the AUBP through training, exchange of experiences and research designed to improve the understanding of issues related to borders and to create a base of solid knowledge on border management, as well as for collaboration with the competent structures located outside the continent.
- 16 More specifically, we agree on the following:
- (i) the inventory of the experts, as well as of research and training institutions which deal with border issues in Africa;
 - (ii) the networking among relevant institutions in Africa, as well as between themselves and other similar institutions outside the continent;

- (iii) the development of programmes on border studies and training in management of borders in the universities and the training centres for civilian, as well as immigration security and defense personnel;
- (iv) the recruitment of additional personnel for the Unit in charge of the AUBP within the Department of Peace and Security, as well as the strengthening of the capacities of this structure.

d) Popularization of the AUBP and follow up with Member States

- 17 The Conference reiterates the need for an effective popularization of the AUBP in order to facilitate ownership at regional, national and local levels, as well as of a continuous interaction between the AU Commission and Member States in the implementation process of the Programme. For that purpose, we agree on the following:
- (i) the organization, as soon as possible, by Member States of national workshops bringing together all stakeholders in order to make them aware of the AUBP;
 - (ii) the organization, with the support of the AU Commission, Member States and other relevant institutions, of training and sensitization workshops on the AUBP for authorities and populations of border areas, in order to facilitate the implementation of the said Programme;
 - (iii) the recourse to the national media and other relevant institutions to popularize the activities undertaken in pursuance of the AUBP, including the translation of working documents into certain African languages;
 - (iv) the appointment/designation by Member States of focal points for the AUBP;
 - (v) the submission by Member States of regular reports, at least once a year, on the implementation of the AUBP;
 - (vi) the institution of an “African Day” of borders, in order to further highlight the importance of the AUBP and encourage additional efforts for its implementation.

e) Partnership and resource mobilization

- 18 We encourage the Commission to pursue its efforts in order to mobilize further support within and outside the continent. For that purpose, we request the Commission to take the following measures:

- (i) the organization, within the framework of the partnership with the EU, of a Conference for the mobilization of resources to support delimitation and demarcation efforts on the continent, as well as cross-border cooperation;
- (ii) the intensification of exchanges with the various international actors, particularly the EU, the United Nations, the Association of European Border Regions and other partners who have experience in the area of cross-border cooperation;
- (iii) a sustained interaction with the former colonial powers in order to facilitate access to colonial documents relating to borders.

Follow up of the declaration

- 19 We request the Commission to ensure the follow up of this Declaration and to take all the necessary measures for its implementation, including the elaboration of a matrix for that purpose, which should be communicated to all Member States and other stakeholders.
- 20 We agree to hold our next meeting in 2012, in order to assess the implementation of the AUBP and determine the measures to be taken to speed up the realization of its objectives.

viii THIRD DECLARATION ON THE AFRICAN UNION BORDER PROGRAMME ADOPTED BY THE THIRD CONFERENCE OF AFRICAN MINISTERS IN CHARGE OF BORDER ISSUES, NIAMEY, NIGER, 17 MAY 2012, AUBP/EXP-MIN/7 (5)

- 1 We, the Ministers of Member States of the African Union (AU) in Charge of Border Issues, have held our 3rd Conference in Niamey, Niger, on 17 May 2012, to deliberate on the status of implementation the AU Border Programme (AUBP). Our Conference was preceded by a preparatory meeting of experts, from 14 to 16 May 2012. It also witnessed the participation in its deliberations, for the first time, of the Republic of South Sudan, after its accession to independence in July 2011, which we warmly welcome.

- 2 Our Conference was held as the follow-up to the implementation of Declarations BP/MIN/Decl.(II) and AUBP/EXP-MIN/7(II), issued at the end of the First and Second Conferences of African Ministers in Charge of Border Issues, held in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, on 7 June 2007 and 25 March 2010, respectively, and the relevant decisions of the Executive Council and the Assembly of the Union. More generally, our Conference took place against the background of the implementation of the various resolutions and decisions adopted by African leaders on peace and security issues, as well as on regional integration.
- 3 We have reviewed the status of the implementation of the AUBP. In this regard, we welcome the gradual ownership of the Programme by the Member States and other stakeholders, for this is a prerequisite for attaining the AUBP objectives. We are also pleased that the AUBP, after an initial phase of popularisation and sensitisation, has now entered an operational phase, marked by increased support for the delimitation and demarcation exercises, the promotion of cross-border cooperation and capacity building. We note with satisfaction the progress made in the field, with the multiplication of initiatives by the Member States to implement the various aspects of the AUBP, and the celebration, on 7 June 2011, of the First African Border Day.
- 4 We also note the emergence of new security challenges, as particularly illustrated by the crisis in the Sahelo-Saharan region, which, beyond the delimitation and demarcation of boundaries, highlight the need for States to ensure the effective control of their territories and to enhance inter-African cooperation in the field of border security. Similarly, we note, with concern, the persistent “thickness” of African borders, which largely explains the low rate of intra-African trade and the problems faced in the free movement of persons. These constraints weigh heavily on landlocked countries that depend greatly on major transport corridors for their international trade and, therefore, impede economic development efforts. Finally, the lack of delimitation of maritime boundaries constitutes a hindrance to the development of energy, fishery and other marine resources by the coastal states.
- 5 In this context, we stress the relevance of the principles underlying the AUBP, as stated in the relevant instruments of the AU, particularly the principle of the respect of borders existing at the time of accession of our countries to independence; the principle of peaceful settlement of border disputes; and the commitment to delimit and demarcate African boundaries, as factors of peace, security and economic and social progress.

- 6 In light of the above, we reaffirm our commitment to make renewed efforts for the effective implementation of the different components of AUBP, aware as we are of the fact that clearly demarcated and well managed borders are necessary to maintain peace, security and stability, enhance economic integration, facilitate trade and transform borders from barriers to bridges, in particular through local cross-border cooperation initiatives.
- 7 At the same time, we recognise the huge tasks that have to be carried out to attain all the objectives we set for ourselves, as demonstrated by:
 - (i) the inadequate responses to the questionnaire that was sent to Member States within the framework of the survey on the status of African borders (five years after its launch, twenty-two Member States have not yet responded to the questionnaire), which does not make it possible to have a comprehensive view of delimitation and demarcation needs;
 - (ii) the fact, based on responses received to date, that only 35 % of African borders are delimited and demarcated, while this operation was originally to be completed in 2012, in conformity with the Memorandum of Understanding on the Conference on Security, Stability, Development and Cooperation in Africa(CSSDCA);
 - (iii) the persistence of border disputes, which can degenerate into serious conflicts;
 - (iv) the low rate of cross-border cooperation, whether at local level or within the framework of large scale integration projects; and
 - (v) the inappropriate ratio between existing human capacity and technical and financial resources, considering the needs for the effective implementation of the AUBP.
- 8 We stress the need, given the current challenges, of integrated border management, to tackle, in a holistic way, development and security challenges in the border areas. We, therefore, encourage Member States to develop integrated national policies and strategies in this regard, and to establish, where appropriate, the necessary institutional structures. We request the Commission to finalise, as soon as possible, the strategy, currently being prepared, on integrated border management.
- 9 As part of such an approach, we reiterate the urgent need for the effective implementation of the various components of the AUBP.

On delimitation, demarcation and reaffirmation of boundaries:

- 10 Bearing in mind the need to do everything to successfully complete the delimitation and demarcation of African boundaries, where such an exercise has not yet taken place, in compliance with the new deadline of 2017 set by the Assembly of the Union, at its session in Malabo, in July 2011, we agree to the following:
- (i) the completion of the collection of all the data for the survey of African borders by July 2012 at the latest. Member States, which have not yet done so are requested to respond to the questionnaire sent by the Commission within the time specified;
 - (ii) the submission by each Member State of an annual report on the progress made in the demarcation of its borders based on the format designed by the Commission;
 - (iii) the acceleration by the Member States of the delimitation and demarcation of their boundaries, where this exercise has not yet taken place, taking, if necessary, all appropriate legal, financial, institutional and other measures for this purpose, so as to comply with the new deadline of 2017. Likewise, we urge Member States involved in border disputes, to do everything for their early resolution, through peaceful means, with the support, if necessary, of the AU and other appropriate African mechanisms;
 - (iv) the adoption of concrete measures for regular maintenance and, where appropriate, the densification of boundary pillars, so as to make them more visible and consequently reduce the risk of disputes;
 - (v) the inclusion of a component on the destruction of antipersonnel mines in the delimitation and demarcation plan; and
 - (vi) the speedy finalisation of the Guide currently under preparation, on good practices in the delimitation and demarcation of boundaries.

On cross-border cooperation:

- 11 For the purpose of attaining our strategic objective on cross-border cooperation, we agree on the following measures:

- (i) the adoption of the AU Convention on Cross-Border Cooperation. We call upon all the Member States to sign, ratify or accede to this Convention and ensure its rapid entry into force;
- (ii) the effective implementation, by the AU and the Regional Economic Communities (RECs), of an exchange programme on cross-border cooperation among African states and other stakeholders;
- (iii) the preparation by the AU Commission, in close collaboration with the RECs, of a Plan of Action to encourage and support local initiative cross-border cooperation, being understood that Member States will take all the necessary measures to facilitate this cooperation;
- (iv) the enhancement of cross-border cooperation in the prevention and fight against terrorism, cross-border crime and other threats, including illegal fishing, piracy and other related acts, within the framework of the relevant instruments of the AU. In this regard, we stress the importance of sharing information and intelligence, and the proper role of the African Centre for Study and Research on Terrorism (ACSRT);
- (v) the implementation and adoption, as appropriate, by Member States of measures aimed at reducing the time of transit and removing non-tariff barriers at the borders so as to facilitate easy movement of goods and persons, in accordance with the relevant decisions of the AU and the RECs;
- (vi) the encouragement of joint management of transboundary resources, based on relevant African and international experiences;
- (vii) the finalisation of the “Guide on Enhancing Cross-border Cooperation”, currently being prepared by the Commission; and
- (viii) the application of specific arrangements to the situation of Island States.

On capacity building:

12 Aware of the critical importance of capacity building, we have identified the following priorities:

- (i) the acceleration of the implementation of the provisions agreed upon during our Second Conference, in particular regarding the inventory of experts and research and training institutions on the continent dealing with border issues, networking of existing institutions, both among themselves and between them and similar institutions outside Africa, and development of curricula and training programmes on border issues;
- (ii) the establishment by the Member States, which have not yet done so, of National Boundary Commissions;
- (iii) the organisation of training workshops for African border institutions. In this regard, we request our international partners, particularly the German Government through the GIZ, the European Union (EU), the United Nations (UN) and other bilateral and multilateral partners, to provide the necessary support; and
- (iv) the adoption by the Commission of a more integrated approach, considering the multidimensional nature of the AUBP.

On the popularisation of the AUBP

13 To enhance the popularisation of the AUBP and consequently facilitate ownership at all levels, we have agreed as follows:

- (i) the preparation of a communication and sensitisation plan to raise greater awareness about the AUBP and specify the respective roles of national, regional and continental partners; and
- (ii) the adoption of practical measures by Member States to celebrate effectively the Africa Border Day.

On partnership and resource mobilisation:

- 14 We express our gratitude to the international partners that support the AUBP and whose assistance has enabled us to achieve significant results. We, particularly, welcome the support from the German Government through the GIZ. We also appreciate the support of the United Kingdom regarding the demarcation of the border between The Sudan and South Sudan.
- 15 To strengthen existing partnerships, we have agreed as follows:
 - (i) the continuation and intensification of interaction with the international partners concerned, in particular the GIZ, the EU, the UN, the Association of European Border Regions (AEBR) and other partners, to facilitate the exchange of experiences and mobilise their support;
 - (ii) the organisation, at the latest in December 2012, of the Conference on resource mobilisation to support the implementation of AUBP, to which the private sector shall be invited; and
 - (iii) the urgent establishment, pending the signing and entry into force of the AU Convention on Cross-Border Cooperation, of a Fund to support the activities of the AUBP. In this respect, we call upon the Member States to contribute significantly to the funding of the AUBP.

On the follow-up of this declaration:

- 16 We request the Executive Council to endorse this Declaration. We call upon Member States, RECs and other stakeholders concerned to take the necessary measures for the implementation of the provisions of this Declaration.
- 17 We call upon the Commission to ensure the follow-up to this Declaration. In particular, we urge the Commission to finalise, in consultation with Member States and other stakeholders concerned, the Strategic Plan for the implementation of AUBP for the period 2013 to 2017.
- 18 We agree to hold our next Conference in 2014 to consider the status of the implementation of the AUBP and take any necessary action.

Section II

The implementation of policies

a REPORT OF THE MEETING OF EXPERTS ON THE BORDER PROGRAMME OF THE AFRICAN UNION, BP/EXP/3 (II), BAMAKO, MALI, 8 TO 9 MARCH 2007

I. INTRODUCTION

- 1 A meeting of experts on the Border Programme of the African Union (AU) was held in Bamako, Mali, from 8 to 9 March 2007. The meeting, which forms part of preparations for the Ministerial Conference now slated for early June in Addis Ababa, was attended by approximately fifty experts representing the Regional Economic Communities (REC), the Secretariat and some agencies of the United Nations, as well as research institutions and other relevant structures, including the Sahel and West Africa Club (SWAC).

II. OPENING

- 2 The meeting was opened by the Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Territorial Administration and Local Government of Mali, on behalf of his Minister who was unable to attend due to the ceremonies marking the International Women's Day, and by a representative of the African Union Commission. Generally, and beyond the reaffirmation of the importance of the meeting and the context thereof (structural prevention of conflicts and promotion of regional integration, which is indeed a component of this structural prevention), the speakers laid emphasis on the two aspects underpinning the Border Programme, namely delimitation and demarcation, on the one hand, and, on the other, cross-border cooperation.

III. SUMMARY OF THE DISCUSSIONS

- 3 After a brief presentation of the objectives of the meeting and the expected outcome, the discussions focussed on the following:
 - the problem of borders in Africa – theoretical and practical aspects;
 - cross-border cooperation as a tool for conflict prevention and for development;
 - partnership and resource mobilisation for the implementation of the AU Border Programme; and
 - preparation of the Ministerial Conference on the AU Border Programme.

(a) The problem of borders in Africa – theoretical and practical aspects

- 4 In discussing this item, participants took particular note of the paradoxical nature of borders: a possible factor of conflict, borders may and should also be a factor of cooperation and peace among States. The history of Europe is significant in this regard: whilst the period between the conclusion of the Treaty of Westphalia in 1648, which marked the birth of the European Nation States, and the end of the Second World War was characterised by numerous territorial disputes and wars, the period that followed 1945 was dominated by cooperation and a drastic reduction in border related conflicts.
- 5 The assertion that borders constitute an ambiguous reality, with both risks of conflicts and opportunities for cooperation, is particularly applicable in Africa. It is precisely to reduce the risk factors that African leaders, soon after independence, committed themselves to respecting the borders inherited from colonialism [Resolution AHG/Res16(I)] on Border disputes among African States adopted by the 1st Ordinary Session of the Assembly of Heads of State and Government held in Cairo (Egypt), in July 1964]. Nevertheless, Africa has grappled and continues to grapple with many border disputes. With the discovery of oil, mineral and other resources in the cross-border areas, there is a risk of an escalation of these conflicts. This is so not only for land borders, but also for maritime borders, on account of offshore oil discoveries. It should be pointed out that increase in the risk factors in terms of management of border problems is not only due to state players; but could also be the result of activities of local communities.

- 6 Against this background, there was a unanimous recognition of the need to delineate and demarcate African borders where such an exercise has not yet been conducted. The resolution adopted in Cairo in July 1964 should serve as a starting point in this exercise, but this may not be enough: some participants, citing their own experiences, pointed out that more often than not the documents or other elements of proof bequeathed by the colonial powers were incomplete, thus rendering the definition of African borders particularly difficult.
- 7 It is worth recalling that, in the Solemn Declaration on the Conference on Security, Stability, Development and Cooperation in Africa (CSSDCA), adopted by the OAU Summit in Durban in July 2002, the Heads of State and Government agreed to delineate and demarcate the African borders, where such exercise has not yet taken place by 2012, i.e., only five years to the set deadline.
- 8 Some participants were of the view that the objective was too ambitious, calling for an extension of the set deadline. The delimitation and demarcation process, they argued, is a long and exacting exercise on account of its delicate nature and the time needed to collect data (treaties, maps, etc.), as well as other relevant information. Other participants, while acknowledging that the objective was not easy to implement, stressed that the ten year timeframe for the delimitation and demarcation of African borders be maintained, more so as it would keep on the momentum and, in so doing, significant strides would be made in the remaining period.
- 9 The issue of the cost of delimitation and demarcation was also discussed. Several examples were given by participants to show to what extent border demarcation could be a costly exercise. First, there is the recourse to the International Court of Justice (ICJ), which requires substantial resources. Second is demarcation whose modalities require resources that, often, are beyond the capabilities of Member States. Consequently, participants recommended that African States should try as much as possible to avoid legal procedures and recourse to the ICJ. With regard to demarcation, participants reflected on alternative solutions. In this connection, and based on the practices of the British colonial power concerning the creation of buffer zones between hostile groups, it was proposed that, rather than the conventional method of marking boundaries, trees could be planted instead. This will have dual advantage of demarcating the borders, but also of preserving and enhancing the environment.

- 10 Faced with the difficulties connected with the delimitation and demarcation of areas rich in resources, one possible solution is the joint exploration and exploitation of the resources in question and the sharing of the proceeds in mutually agreed proportions. This is the choice made by some African countries.
- 11 Irrespective of the approach chosen, one thing is certain: the countries concerned must show political will which, alone, makes it possible to overcome the difficulties inherent to the definition of a border and the territorial exchanges that may result thereof. Even in situations where a legal body has delimited a border, that political will is necessary for demarcation purposes.
- 12 Among other recommendations, participants called for the acceleration of the process of delimitation and demarcation of African borders, it being understood that such an exercise should, as much as possible, be carried out by African countries themselves, taking into account the limited resources of the continent; the development of the border areas which are often among the least developed areas; the creation of national statutory bodies responsible for borders; the establishment of a structure within the Conflict Management Division of the AU Peace and Security Department responsible for the implementation of the AU Border Programme; the mobilisation of resources for the implementation of the Border Programme; and the training of the requisite personnel.
- 13 SWAC informed participants that a general diagnosis of the West African borders would soon begin, leading to the publication of a chapter of the Regional Integration Atlas in West Africa. The diagnosis will show on a map the delimited borders, the demarcated borders and those that are the subject of disputes. This exercise could possibly serve as an example to the other African RECs.

(b) Cross-border cooperation

- 14 As indicated above, the second theme of the meeting focused on cross-border cooperation. Cross-border cooperation is necessary, more so as the delineation of African borders was not based on any objective criterion. The aim of this cooperation is to mitigate the negative effects resulting from the artificial nature of African borders and promote regional cooperation within the context of conflict prevention.
- 15 During the session devoted to the above theme, presentations and interventions were made, recounting very diverse experiences: management of river basins, development corridors involving heavy investment, joint management of oil and gas resources, inter-States institutional processes and cross-border proximity projects. This obviously raises a problem of definition of cross-border cooperation. It was agreed to retain a broad definition of cross-border cooperation because any form of dialogue and cooperation involving two or several countries is likely to contribute to conflict prevention. It was also agreed to recognise the particularities and special potentials of cross-border proximity or local initiative cooperation, as shown by the West African experience.

- 16 The meeting reviewed several on-going experiences on the continent. Undoubtedly, it is in West Africa that the most significant progress has been made, at least in the area of local initiative cross-border cooperation. From this point of view, the concept of pays-frontière and the applications made thereof attracted the attention of participants. Needless to recall that the concept of pays-frontière corresponds to “geographical areas that lie across the boundary separating two or several neighbouring states, and are inhabited by people bonded by socio-cultural and economic links”. The objective sought is not to remodel African borders but rather to transcend them through integration.
- 17 As part of the implementation of the ECOWAS Cross-Border Initiatives Programme (CIP), elaborated with the help of SWAC and which is based on the concept of pays-frontière, four pilot projects were launched in the region: the first pilot project was launched in the Sikasso region, in Mali, and in Bobo Dioulasso, in Burkina Faso, through a workshop that brought together local, private and public actors. The second project, which is on-going since October 2005, is aimed at “replicating the Sikasso process” in southern Senegambia in a context where cross-border cooperation is perceived as a panacea to the problems facing the region; the third project concerns the Kano/Katsina/Maradi region between Niger and Nigeria, and focuses on the prevention of food crises; the fourth project concerns the Karakoro basin between Mali and Mauritania. Furthermore, in 2005, ECOWAS prepared a draft convention on cross-border cooperation, which was tabled before a meeting of experts from member States in November 2006. These efforts have had a snowball effect in that the West African Economic and Monetary Union (UEMOA), the Inter-States Committee on Drought Control in the Sahel (CILSS) and the Liptako-Gourma Development Authority (ALG) have all launched cross-border cooperation initiatives. L'Equipe Prospective – Dialogue politique (DIAPOL) from the NGO ENDA TIERS MONDE is particularly active in the area of cross-border cooperation, carrying out activities in Southern Senegambia.

- 18 While welcoming these initiatives and hoping that they inspire similar ventures in other parts of the continent, participants dwelt on the English translation of the concept of “pays-frontière”. “Borderlands” and “border regions” are the more familiar terms in the literature in English. The workshop eventually recommended the more technically neutral expression of “cross-border areas”, which captures the French expression of “pays frontière” more effectively.
- 19 Other experiences worth mentioning are those gained by the Initiative for Central Africa (INICA) in Central Africa, which has set up an observatory of cross-border dynamics, as well as the specific development and reconstruction areas provided for within the context of the International Conference on the Great Lakes Region – twelve cross-border basins were identified in this regard. Worthy of note are the efforts deployed by the Economic Community of the Great Lakes Countries (CEPGL) made up of Burundi, the DRC and Rwanda, the initiatives in Southern and Eastern regions and the projects undertaken in the Maghreb.
- 20 Participants pointed out the elasticity of the areas that could serve as framework for cross-border cooperation. Indeed, the dynamics at the grass-root level, whether they concern cross-border trade or other areas of activity are, as it were, in constant movement, always delineating anew the contours of the areas concerned. As one of the participants pointed out, borders have a specific life resulting from their appropriation by the local populations. In fact, some people made a distinction between real spaces, corresponding to the areas of operation of local players, and statutory defined spaces, which are the product of political geography as determined by States.
- 21 That border spaces are structured by a number of dynamics, including cross-border trade, cannot be overemphasised. Based on the studies conducted at the Nigeria borders, The Laboratoire d'analyse régionale et d'expertise sociale (LARES) in Cotonou, Benin, noted three types of cross-border trade: opportunity trade linked to regulatory differences between Benin and Nigeria, cross-border community solidarity trade at the Nigeria/Niger border, which is conducted by communities living on both sides of a border, and competition trade. Irrespective of its nature, the countries concerned may be wary of this type of trade as it can be a way to circumvent State regulations, thereby impacting negatively on their fiscal revenue and security. The challenge therefore is to reconcile the legitimate concerns of States and the trade dynamics created by private players. Some speakers were of the view that the threats that this type of activity could pose should not be exaggerated, especially since such an activity is not peculiar to the continent. The case of Europe was cited as an example.

(c) Partnership and resource mobilisation for the implementation of the AU Border Programme

- 22 It was emphasised, from the onset that partnerships and funding tools needed for the implementation of large-scale projects (joint management of river basins, dams, development corridors, etc.) are already known and feature in the tool kits of the international development cooperation and public/private partnerships. Such projects and tools should be multiplied.
- 23 That is why discussion here focused essentially on local initiative cross-border cooperation, which should make it possible to give a popular and broad base to the regional integration venture. More specifically, the meeting tried to identify various levels – local, national, regional and continental – likely to accompany the implementation of the Border Programme of the African Union, as well as programmes of support to the local initiative cross-border cooperation in the RECs.
- 24 The local players – the prime movers of local initiatives – are local representatives of States, elected representatives and the civil society in the broad sense of the word and, as such, should be the direct initiators of international cooperation projects, the originators of proposals and the actors as far as their implementation is concerned. The West African experience has amply demonstrated that more often than not these actors are the best experts possible to deal with problems concerning them.
- 25 In this connection, the meeting recommended that continental and regional associations of elected representatives in Government and the civil society in general should henceforth be closely involved in the reflection of the AU Border Programme and the programmes of support to local initiative cross-border cooperation within the different RECs.
- 26 The States have an essential role to play. Beyond the facilitation of local initiatives, it is incumbent on them to intervene upstream to give the necessary legitimacy to cross-border cooperation. In other words, for the local actors to be able to talk to each other across boundaries and cooperate among themselves, the States concerned should give them the go-ahead: the State is thus placed at the centre of a process of which it is the political engine. In this way, local initiative cross-border cooperation strengthens the legitimacy of States in regional integration efforts, by getting the populations closely involved in the process set in motion by State actors.

- 27 Equally crucial is the role of the RECs, which are at the centre of the integration agenda of the African Union. The example of ECOWAS is noteworthy in this regard. As a matter of fact, the West African regional organisation recommended to its members the establishment of a Cross-Border Initiative Programme aimed at promoting the development of field pilot projects and endowing the West African region with a border cooperation legal framework. It was thanks to this initiative that some States of the region committed themselves to support the pilot projects and that funding, albeit modest, has been mobilised.
- 28 At the continental level, the AU has a strategic and political role to play. Indeed, the AU is the only structure capable of ensuring that cross-border cooperation features on the continent's priority agenda, given its primary relevance to the Union's area of primary concern: migration, peace, food security, etc. The AU will have a lot of advocacy work to do so that cross-border cooperation features prominently among the major international initiatives launched in favour of the continent.
- 29 To this end, the meeting recommended that the AU forge a genuine partnership with Europe, whose experience in terms of cross-border cooperation could be a source of inspiration for Africa. Initiated by the elected officials and authorities of border regions, the said experience led to the creation of the Association of European Border Regions (AEBR) and the launching of the INTEREG programme which provides assistance to the execution of cross-border development plans, and has become a major community programme whose budget for the period 2007 – 2012 amounts to about 8 billion Euros. The AU could, among other things, request that a cross-border cooperation component be included in the 10th European Development Fund (EDF).
- 30 The meeting debated at length the funding of cross-border cooperation. Two major obstacles were identified: on the one hand, the funds earmarked for the financing of regional cooperation are not, at least in their present form, designed to finance activities at the local level; on the other hand, funds administered by national authorities, for the financing of local activities, are restricted to the territories of the particular States.
- 31 To overcome these difficulties, participants recommended the creation of regional funds within the RECs, using the European example.

In this respect, donors and development banks willing to embark on this path should be encouraged to take into account the need to help the RECs to equip themselves with the necessary technical teams. Here, the African Development Bank (ADB) has a crucial role to play. It was also proposed to see to what extent the Nigeria experience could be replicated in other African countries: Nigeria has set up a National Boundary Commission with funds set aside for the development of structurally disadvantaged border regions.

- 32 Another scenario would be the promotion of pilot projects between European and African regions via the decentralised North/South cooperation. Pilot experiments could be launched with the help of European donors. The AU should champion this course, which apart from its direct interest to the African continent, would make it possible to bring the populations of the two continents closer together.

(d) Preparation of the Addis Ababa Ministerial Conference

- 33 The meeting underscored the importance of the Conference and the need to ensure its effective preparation. It was proposed that the preparatory meeting of experts from Member States be held for two days and the Ministerial Conference proper for only one day.
- 34 The experts' preparatory meeting, which would provide the opportunity to examine all the aspects of the AU Border Programme, would revolve around the following points:
- the problem of borders in Africa, both in its theoretical and practical aspects;
 - delimitation and demarcation of African borders – in this connection, participants underscored the need for stock-taking and strongly recommended that the AU send a questionnaire to Member States requesting the latter to indicate the status of their borders in terms of delimitation and demarcation, thereby making it possible to determine the scope of the work to be accomplished in order to attain the objective set in the CSSDCA Solemn Declaration;
 - cross-border cooperation in general as a factor of peace, stability and development: how to multiply projects and programmes of common interest to two or several African countries, which are factors not only for forging solidarity and good neighbourliness, but also for promoting local initiative cross-border cooperation – the West African and European experiences have proven that the cross-border local initiative provide a firm and solid basis which requires the backing of States, local initiatives, as well as the support of the RECs and the African Union;

- development of the required capacities; and
 - partnership and resource mobilisation for the implementation of the AU Border Programme as well as regional programmes of support for the development of cross-border cooperation.
- 35 Participants recommended that each of these points be the subject of a general presentation and other more specific presentations highlighting special experiences.
- 36 The Ministerial Conference proper would have a light agenda focusing on the report of the experts' meeting and the adoption of a Declaration at the end of the deliberations. This Declaration would contain a Plan of Action that will guide the activities of the Commission, the Member States and the RECs in the years ahead.

IV. CLOSING

- 37 The meeting was closed by the Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Territorial Administration and Local Government of Mali. The Permanent Secretary expressed satisfaction at the smooth conduct of the meeting and the hope that the dynamism created would be strengthened during the Ministerial Conference scheduled to take place in Addis Ababa. He said that there was no salvation for the continent without integration. The Border Programme, if properly and effectively implemented, would help not only to deepen the ongoing integration process but also enhance the peace efforts being deployed on the continent.

b REPORT OF THE PREPARATORY MEETING OF EXPERTS FOR THE CONFERENCE OF MINISTERS RESPONSIBLE FOR BORDER ISSUES, ADDIS ABABA, 4 TO 5 JUNE 2007, BP/EXP/RPT (II)

I. INTRODUCTION

- 1 The meeting of government experts preparatory to the Conference of African Ministers in Charge of Border Issues, scheduled for 7 June 2007, was held in Addis Ababa from 4 to 5 June 2007.
- 2 The meeting was attended by representatives of the following member States: Algeria, Angola, Botswana, Burkina Faso, Burundi, Cameroon, Cape Verde, Chad, Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), Republic of Congo (Brazzaville), Comoros, Côte d'Ivoire, Djibouti, Egypt, Equatorial Guinea, Ethiopia, Gabon, The Gambia, Ghana, Guinea, Kenya, Liberia, Libya, Madagascar, Malawi, Mali, Mauritania, Mozambique, Namibia, Niger, Nigeria, Rwanda, Sahrawi Arab Democratic Republic (SADR), Senegal, Seychelles, Sierra Leone, South Africa, Sudan, Swaziland, Tanzania, Togo, Tunisia, Uganda, Zambia and Zimbabwe.

- 3 The following Regional Economic Communities (RECs) were also present: the East African Community (EAC) and the Intergovernmental Authority for Development (IGAD). Finally, the following organisations and institutions attended as observers: Niger Basin Authority (ABN), Economic Community of the Great Lakes Countries (CEPGL), Organisation pour la mise en valeur du fleuve Sénégal (OMVS), the United Nations Secretariat, including the United Nations Office for West Africa, UNHCR, the International Organisation for Migration (IOM), UNDP, the Economic Commission for Africa, the UN Regional Centre for Peace and Disarmament in Africa, the League of Arab States, the Organisation internationale de la Francophonie (OIF), as well as the African Wildlife Foundation and the NGO ENDA DIAPOL.

II. OPENING

- 4 The meeting was opened by Mr. Saïd Djinnit, Commissioner for Peace and Security at the African Union. In his speech, the Commissioner recalled that, since African States gained independence, borders inherited from colonisation have been a factor of recurrent conflicts, adding that most of these borders were ill-defined and undemarcated. He recalled the relevant provisions of the OAU Charter as well as resolution AHG/Res.16(I) on the respect of borders inherited from colonisation, which marked efforts by African leaders to mitigate border related risks of conflict.
- 5 The Commissioner underscored that a number of proposals were made in furtherance of these instruments, both with respect to the delimitation and demarcation of borders and the promotion of cross-border cooperation. Unfortunately, there was no follow-up to these proposals. Similarly, there was no concrete plan to facilitate the implementation of the Memorandum of Understanding on Security, Stability, Development and Cooperation in Africa (CSSDCA) adopted in July 2002, which provided for the delimitation and demarcation of African boundaries, where such an exercise has not yet taken place, by 2012 latest.

- 6 In light of the foregoing, and after recalling the relevant provisions of the AU Constitutive Act, the Commissioner stated that it was time to develop and put in place an innovative and imaginative programme for the management of inter-African borders, aimed not only at promoting peace, security and stability, but also at facilitating the socio-economic integration and sustainable development of Africa. The AU Border Programme should be situated in this context. The aim of the Programme is not re-drawing the borders inherited from colonisation but rather striving to identify and demarcate them quickly, so as to mitigate their barrier effects and convert them into bridges, zones of sharing and solidarity that would cement the integration process underway in the continent.

III. ELECTION OF THE BUREAU

- 7 After the customary consultations within the various regions, the meeting elected its Bureau by acclamation as follows:
- Chairperson – Togo (West Africa)
 - 1st Vice-Chairperson – Cameroon (Central Africa)
 - 2nd Vice-Chairperson – Libya (North Africa)
 - 3rd Vice-Chairperson – South Africa (Southern Africa)
 - Rapporteur – Uganda (East Africa)

VI. ADOPTION OF PROGRAMME OF WORK

- 8 The meeting adopted the programme of work proposed by the Commission.

V. CONSIDERATION OF ITEMS ON THE AGENDA

Sessions I and II:

The Report of the meeting of experts held in Bamako, delimitation and demarcation of African borders

- 9 The meeting considered items for sessions 1 and 2 jointly. At these sessions, the meeting followed presentations on:
- the report of the meeting of experts organised by the Commission in Bamako, Mali, from 8 to 9 March 2007;
 - the problem of borders in Africa – theoretical and practical aspects;
 - delimitation and demarcation of African borders – legal aspects; and
 - the draft questionnaire on the delimitation and demarcation of African borders.

- 10 While discussing this item, the meeting underscored the rather paradoxical nature of borders: potential factors of conflict, borders may and should also be a factor of peace and cooperation among States.
- 11 The meeting observed that the assertion that borders are an ambiguous reality, presenting both risks of conflict as well as opportunities for cooperation, is particularly applicable to Africa. It was precisely to reduce the risk of conflicts that, at the dawn of independence, African leaders undertook to respect the borders inherited from colonisation [Resolution AHG/Res.16 (II) on border disputes between African States, adopted at the 1st Ordinary Session of the Assembly of Heads of State and Government held at Cairo, Egypt, in July 1964]. The meeting also noted that, despite this decision, Africa has witnessed and continues to witness numerous border conflicts. With the presence of cross-border mineral and natural resources, there is a real risk of these conflicts escalating.
- 12 In this context, the meeting underscored the necessity to rapidly delimit and demarcate the African boundaries, including maritime boundaries, where this has not yet been done, expressing the wish that such exercise could be carried through within the time-frame prescribed by the Solemn Declaration on the CSSDCA. The resolution adopted in Cairo in July 1964 should be a starting point for this exercise. However, it was observed that, quite often, the documents and other elements of evidence inherited from the colonial era were incomplete and sometimes not readily accessible, and often are so numerous that it is difficult to know which one to apply. The meeting appealed to the former colonial powers to make available to African States concerned the documents and elements of evidence in their possession to facilitate the delimitation and demarcation of African borders.
- 13 The meeting recommended that States should engage in bilateral dialogue in delimiting and demarcating their borders. The issue of the effects of delimitation and demarcation on local populations was also raised. In this respect, the meeting urged the States concerned to take the necessary steps to protect the rights of the affected populations, notably where there is risk of loss of nationality, of real property, or of forced displacement.
- 14 The meeting further urged African States to use less costly procedures in demarcating their borders. In this respect, the meeting encouraged the exchange of experiences. It also noted with interest the experiences of some member States concerning the unitisation and joint exploration and exploitation of resources in cross-border areas, which have enabled them to overcome difficulties in areas that await delimitation and demarcation.

- 15 The meeting underscored the need to conduct, as soon as possible, an exhaustive evaluation of the current status of African borders. In this regard, the meeting commended efforts being made by the Commission to prepare a questionnaire which will be sent to member States, requesting that the questionnaire be finalised as soon as possible, on the basis of the observations made.

Session III:

Cross-border cooperation

- 16 The meeting followed a presentation on cross-border cooperation as a tool for conflict prevention, based on the experience of West Africa, as well as on other ongoing experiences in cross-border cooperation in the continent, notably:
- development of transport corridors (Maputo Development Corridor);
 - regional cooperation based on cross-border dialogue between local communities with a view to protecting wildlife and fragile ecosystems (African Wildlife Foundation/Zambezi Heartland based in Zimbabwe);
 - development of river basins, with OMVS (Organisation de mise en valeur du fleuve Sénégal – Senegal River Development Authority);
 - analysis of the functioning of borders and the dynamics found therein, based on studies conducted by the Cotonou, Benin, Regional Analysis and Social Expertise Laboratory (LARES);
 - the process of the International Conference on the Great Lakes Region (CEPGL);
 - the Equatorial Guinea/Nigeria maritime boundary Treaty of September 2000, which contains a unitisation clause for the joint development of resources found across the common boundary; and
 - the activities of the NGO ENDA DIAPOL in West Africa.
- 17 The representatives of several other countries, international organisations and NGOs also presented papers on their border management experiences.
- 18 The meeting commended these different experiences and, more generally, acknowledged the importance of cross-border cooperation in mitigating the barrier effects of borders, preventing conflicts and fostering regional integration. It stressed the need to elaborate appropriate legal and financial instruments to facilitate the development of such cooperation.

- 19 Similarly, the deliberations highlighted the very diverse nature of the experiences in cross-border cooperation, be they local or large-scale initiatives. In this respect, the meeting requested the Commission to catalogue ongoing experiences and to establish a mechanism for the exchange of good practices.

Session IV:

Partnership, resource mobilisation and capacity building

- 20 At this session, the meeting followed presentations on:
- partnership and the mobilisation of resources required for the implementation of the AU Border Programme;
 - capacity building for the implementation of the Border Programme.
- 21 Moreover, the meeting noted with interest the contribution of the United Nations Cartographic Section, which made a presentation on its experience and good practices, and gave information on the United Nations continued support for the promotion of cross-border activities.
- 22 Following these presentations, the meeting made the following recommendations:
- necessity for concrete capacity building at the national, regional and continental levels to ensure the sustainable implementation of the Border Programme;
 - cataloguing of existing capacities within the continent and putting such capacities to use, including recourse to the African Organisation of Cartography and Remote Sensing (AOCRS);
 - development of special training, education and research programmes on the management of border issues and making use of African structures and institutions, which should be strengthened;
 - strengthening the Conflict Management Division of the Peace and Security Department of the AU, to enable it to provide necessary support for the implementation and monitoring of the Border Programme;
 - raising the awareness of local populations so that they can own the Border Programme;
 - involvement of parliamentarians, local governments, civil society, the private sector and other relevant structures in the implementation and monitoring of the AU Border Programme;
 - building of partnerships with other regions of the world, particularly Europe, which has a wealth of experience in cross-border

- cooperation, through the Association of European Border Regions (AEBR) and the European Commission INTERREG Programme; and
- mobilisation of the resources required for the implementation of the Border Programme both within the continent and from AU partners.

Session V:

Consideration of the draft report and the draft declaration to be submitted to the Ministers

- 23 The meeting considered its draft report and made the necessary amendments. It equally considered the draft declaration to be submitted to Ministers for consideration. In this respect, it requested the Commission, with the assistance of the Bureau, to finalise the draft document in light of the observations that were made.

c INTERNATIONAL SEMINAR ON THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE AFRICAN UNION BORDER PROGRAMME, DJIBOUTI, 1 TO 2 DECEMBER 2007

Opening

Address by the representative of the Commission

The workshop was held under the joint chairmanship of Mr. El Ghassim Wane, Head of the Conflict Management Division and Chairman of the Steering Committee and Mr. Sammy Kum Buo, Director of the Africa II Division, Department of Political Affairs of the UN General Secretariat.

In his opening address, the Head of the Conflict Management Division expressed thanks to the participants. He then reviewed the history of the African Union Border Programme (AUBP): the meeting of experts held in Bamako, Mali (8 to 9 March 2007); the meeting of government experts in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia (4 to 5 June 2007); and the Conference of African Ministers in Charge of Border Issues (7 June 2007). This conference led to the adoption of the Declaration on the Implementation of the AUBP. This Declaration was in turn approved by the Executive Council at its last session in Accra, Ghana. The Council Decision revolves around delimitation/demarcation of boundaries, cross-border cooperation and capacity building to better manage border issues. The objective of the workshop in Djibouti is to examine the pragmatic approach to implementing the AUBP at continental, regional and national levels including civil society.

The Director of the Africa II Division, Department of Political Affairs of the United Nations General Secretariat read a message from the UN Secretary-General to the workshop participants on the implementation of the AU border Programme. His message could be summarised as follows: more than a century after the Berlin Conference, the delimitation/demarcation of African borders continues to be a problem and a source of conflicts; hence, the need for the African Union to take preventive measures against the outbreak of conflicts through its Border Programme. The objective of this Programme in this regard is to complete the delimitation/demarcation of the borders before the border problems result in conflicts. To achieve this, regional integration efforts and funding are required. In this context, this workshop is an opportunity to determine the extent of resources necessary for this purpose.

Session I:

Overview of the AU Border Programme

In introducing the general historic overview of the AU Border Programme, Professor A.I. Asiwaju (President of the African Regional Institute, AFRI) highlighted the following:

- ▶ The issue of borders as factors of conflicts in Africa was as old as the creation of states themselves.
- ▶ In the past, the emphasis has been on borders as factors of conflicts;
- ▶ The evolving view has been on borders as opportunities for international cooperation, as the AU is transforming from a Union of States to a Union of People.
- ▶ Since the inception of the OAU in 1963, a number of legal instruments have addressed the issue of borders, among which are the 1963 OAU Charter and the 1964 Decision.
- ▶ The AU Border Programme started with the Meeting of Experts held in March 2007 in Bamako, Mali, which defined the programme and its implementation modalities.
- ▶ Four main recommendations were made during the Bamako meeting, on which the AU Border Programme is based:
 - (i) Need to define and demarcate all borders in Africa as expeditiously as possible and in a cost effective manner, preferably by 2012, the deadline set by the AU Policy organs;

- (ii) Need to promote cross-border cooperation and regional border development;
- (iii) Need to focus on capacity building, research and training as well as ensure regional approaches at all levels, moving away from purely national approaches, so as to strengthen regional integration;
- (iv) Need to define clear timetable and programme for the implementation of the Border Programme.

Professor Asiwaju recalled that the AU Border Programme was adopted by the first-ever meeting of African Ministers in Charge of Border Issues held in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, in June 2007 and was endorsed by the policy organs of the Union in Accra, Ghana, in July 2007. He concluded by indicating that the way forward required that the necessary measures be put into place to ensure the effective implementation of the AU Border Programme.

To complete Professor Asiwaju's presentation, Ambassador Diarrah stressed that:

- (i) Reaffirmation that while the boundaries may be sources of conflict, they may also constitute areas of solidarity, peace and regional cooperation;
- (ii) The AU Border Programme does not seek to reshape the borders in Africa, but to identify and provide substantive means to strengthen cross-border cooperation.

Ambassador Diarrah concluded by recalling that the Programme's objectives were as follows:

- ▶ the completion of African border identification, delimitation and demarcation;
- ▶ the deepening of regional institutional integration;
- ▶ the implementation of local initiatives in cross-border cooperation programmes within the framework of the RECs and major regional cooperation initiatives, including through the creation of regional funds;
- ▶ the formulation of the legal frameworks necessary to facilitate cross-border cooperation in Africa;
- ▶ the establishment of continental or regional mechanisms for capacity building; and
- ▶ resource mobilisation both in Africa and with partners of the AU for the implementation of the Border Programme.

In the discussions that ensued, participants made observations and sought clarifications as follows:

- ▶ Need to ensure that the Regional Economic Communities play their role in the implementation of the AU Border Programme and to determine the responsibilities at continental, regional and sub-regional levels;
- ▶ Need to undertake, in addition to delimitation and demarcation, reaffirmation of border activities;
- ▶ Need to take into account, in carrying out demarcation activities, the cultural characteristics of the local societies, and draw from lesson learned;
- ▶ Need to share experience in the implementation of the AU Border programme;
- ▶ Need for Member States to redefine the exercise of their sovereignty within cross-border areas and to demonstrate their strong political commitment to the delimitation and demarcation of borders;
- ▶ Need to promote the AU Border Programme at all levels and in particular, the grass-roots level.

Session II:

Consideration of measures to be taken for the implementation of the AU Border Programme

(a) Delimitation and demarcation

During this session the participants listened to the introductory remarks of Mr. Martin Pratt, Director of Research, International Boundaries Research Unit (IBRU) at the University of Durham, UK, Mr. Elias Mucombo, Director of Border Affairs of Mozambique, and Dr. Marie Trémolières, Director of OECD/SWAC, who had represented Mr. Laurent Bossard, to the AUBP steering committee.

Mr. Pratt made a presentation on the concept of delimitation and demarcation. He informed the participants that the concept was developed by Mr. Stephen B. Jones. Added to his model were the elements of maintenance, long-term management and recovery. The latter include the concepts of confirmation and reaffirmation of borders. The following ideas came out of his presentation.

- ▶ The real problem of delimitation/demarcation of African borders is that those who drew the boundaries delimited them on the basis of faulty geographic information, not knowing exactly the real location of land features, rivers or streams.

- ▶ Delimitation/demarcation of African borders was left incomplete due to a lack of documentation, leaving doubt as to how to delimit and demarcate borders accurately and precisely. Mr. Pratt gave the example of Saudi Arabia at the opposite end of the spectrum, where the process of demarcating the border, while it was expensive, was completed accurately and precisely.
- ▶ The need to consider the impact of the delimitation/demarcation activities on local and cross-border structures.
- ▶ Since 25 % of global and African borders follow rivers, the natural processes resulting in rivers changing their original courses must be taken into consideration.
- ▶ As the incongruence between a boundary and changed river course can be a source of conflict, Europeans have chosen as borders rivers whose courses are not subject to abrupt changes.
- ▶ AU Member States must keep in mind their prior commitment to avoid engaging in disputes ensuing from delimitation and demarcation activities.
- ▶ A computerised information system for border management should be set up to store and share data and related materials.

Mr. Mucombo presented a model of a questionnaire that Member States could submit to the AU as an inventory of their territorial delimitations and demarcations, and maritime and river boundaries reflecting their length, area and the methodology used to construct them.

Dr. Marie Trémolières introduced a draft matrix for implementing the AUBP that focuses on the following six points:

- 1 monitoring and evaluation of the AUBP;
- 2 conveying the concept of popular ownership of the AUBP;
- 3 delimitation and demarcation of borders;
- 4 cross-border cooperation;
- 5 exchange of experience; and
- 6 engaging in partnerships and resource-sharing.

These presentations were followed by discussions that raised the following issues:

- (i) Regarding the questionnaire and whether Member States should
 - be required to specify the information system used for filling out the questionnaire;
 - complete the questionnaire by adding a section on geographic information systems;

- complete the questionnaire promptly;
- propose using satellite positioning systems (GPS) to align the existing boundary. This methodology allows States to evaluate their mapping, and controls the costs associated with the delimitation and demarcation process;
- indicate the sources and scale used in defining the boundary;
- specify available transboundary resources;
- convey a clear means to survey cross-border and migration issues;
- require another questionnaire for capacity building;
- use the questionnaire to inventory border area administration;
- have at their disposal a clear and streamlined questionnaire. The proposal was made to build all of the issues listed above into the questionnaire;
- ensure that the questionnaire would not be exploited by any Member State to defend their interest;
- the need to test the questionnaire on a number of countries before extending it to all AU Member States;
- the need to monitor that the data entered into questionnaire conforms with physical reality on the ground to meet the expectations of the AU;
- need to sensitise local border populations, who may not understand regional integration or who fear it might erase national identities;
- consider the refusal of some Member States to cooperate with the AUBP and non-AU States; and
- add a comment section to the questionnaire to identify successful experiences such as those between Nigeria and the neighbouring countries of Cameroon, Equatorial Guinea, and Sao Tome and Principe.

(ii) Regarding the matrix

- Consider broader AUBP oversight, adding the key stakeholders and all political components to the matrix.

Recommendations

- ▶ Ensure the training of staff involved in the Member States' delimitation and demarcation processes, drawing on the example of Nigeria, which currently provides staff training in the UK.
- ▶ Identify potential partners to fund the AU Border Programme.

- ▶ Seek the cooperation of the United Nations to access the necessary legal instruments related to delimitation and demarcation.
- ▶ Require Member States' agreement in advance to the principle of peaceful settlement of issues that may arise during the delimitation and demarcation process. In this respect, China and Russia provide an instructive example of default to a 50/50 territorial split when other means of achieving an equitable allocation of territory cannot be achieved.
- ▶ Anticipate that disagreements between States on delimitation and demarcation maps or texts may not constitute a source of conflict as the result of demographic interpretation.
- ▶ Create a database containing information that is absolutely neutral, with the assistance of the United Nations, which has a greater expertise in this matter.
- ▶ Engage the multinational corporations in the instances where the management of resources, such as oil, exceed national issues.

Experience of the Organization of the American States (OAS)

A representative of the OAS made a presentation on the experience of this organisation with boundaries matters. He noted two issues in the experience of the Americas:

- (a) a history of disputes over territorial boundaries;
- (b) collaboration in establishing practical confidence-building measures that include audits or inquiries into liaison offices.

The OAS established a Peace Fund, in 2000 to finance costs incurred in resolving territorial disputes, contingent upon the States being party to the Fund and that they accept and support the activities of Member States.

The OAS also plays a role in cross-border cooperation.

Following the comments by the OAS representative, the meeting participants decided to establish two sub-committees, one responsible for finalising the questionnaire, the other responsible for the matrix. They also decided to:

- ▶ organise by January 2008 a joint AU/UN meeting, funded by the AU to complete the questionnaire;
- ▶ establish a core team in collaboration with the UN to deal with data that will be collected from AU Member States through the questionnaire;

- ▶ organise, in collaboration with the United Nations, a meeting of experts from Member States on the delimitation and demarcation process, to discuss the system of information management in order to avoid errors in interpretation;
- ▶ create within the AU Commission a delimitation and demarcation issues database and establish confidence-building measures to support its Member States;
- ▶ allow three months for Member States to respond to the questionnaire; and
- ▶ hold a small meeting of experts from all African regions every two years, to learn about experiences implementing the AUBP.

(b) Cross-border cooperation

Cross-border cooperation is one of the tools for conflict prevention and management used by the African Union, and by extension, the African Regional Economic Communities (RECs). Keeping the goal of regional integration and socio-economic development in mind, the participants reflected on various experiences and issues and made a number of concrete proposals.

The experiences shared and the issues raised by the participants at the meeting brought to the fore the need to to achieve success in a cross-border initiative that will entail:

- ▶ political will of the states, in terms of decision-making and providing a conducive policy environment;
- ▶ partnership building from the beginning, either on a public-private sector basis, or between inter-governmental organisations or international organisations and donors/partners;
- ▶ sensitisation of the stakeholders in a cross-border initiative to help prepare them for their engagement in the project;
- ▶ coordination in the design of administrative and technical arrangements for the oversight of a cross-border initiative;
- ▶ provision of requisite capacity and infrastructure for the operation and management of cross-border initiatives;
- ▶ design and launching of cross-border initiatives woven around the common interests of neighbouring States; and
- ▶ laying the groundwork for sustaining a cross-border venture, including the incorporation of a user/payer/beneficiary principle.

Participants proposed, among others, the following concrete actions to jump-start cross-border cooperation:

- ▶ undertaking studies to take stock of the present situation on the ground on the African continent;
- ▶ establishing directories of offices dealing with border operations in neighbouring countries, including the establishment of border-crossing point offices;
- ▶ designing a pan-African legal framework for cross-border cooperation;
- ▶ facilitating local administrative councils operating in border areas to enter into agreements, and coordinating arrangements supportive of cross-border cooperation;
- ▶ providing capacity building for border operations, including measures to reduce the effects of linguistic barriers along border areas;
- ▶ promoting interstate cross-border cooperation initiatives;

The discussion emphasised the following in order to positively steer cross-border cooperation initiatives:

- ▶ popularisation of cross-border initiatives as the way to begin to draw the attention and participation of concerned stakeholders.
- ▶ involvement of concerned stakeholders in the border areas;
- ▶ injection of political support to cross-border initiatives;
- ▶ effective fulfilment of responsibilities by all parties involved in cross-border cooperation projects;
- ▶ stimulation of viable economic activities in the border areas;
- ▶ job creation as a direct benefit to local communities in border areas; and
- ▶ establishing from the beginning the principle of the long-term sustainability of cross-border cooperation ventures, particularly through the promotion of viable public-private partnerships as a framework for such ventures.

(c) Partnership and resource mobilisation

Finding the means to build partnerships and to mobilise resources is essential to make the implementation of the AUBP a reality. In order to succeed, Member States must demonstrate political goodwill, figure out how to set up networks of partnership and resource mobilisation, and make the AUBP an integral part of the African Union.

The AUBP will be included in the Capacity Building Programme of the United Nations. This should enable the AUBP to satisfy its mapping requirements. Its success will require the creation of North-South as well as all-African partnerships in mobilising human resources.

Several possible means can be recommended to achieve these objectives:

- ▶ establishment of research centres on border issues;
- ▶ involvement of NGOs and associations facing border problems on a daily basis;
- ▶ solicitation of local administrations managing border problems in the implementation of the delimitation and demarcation process;
- ▶ organisation of a joint African Union – European Union seminar;
- ▶ establishment of a liaison between the African Union and NEPAD, whose programme has already raised concerns about the AUBP;
- ▶ establishment of a capacity-building partnership with the United Nations, where cooperation currently exists in the areas of:
 - strategic planning;
 - technical support (mapping, remote sensing, satellite images and maps); and
 - legal, logistics assistance
- ▶ Establish partnerships with other sectors
 - private sector/NGO
 - political organisations
 - administrative organisations
 - diplomatic communities
- ▶ Manage the African Union's coordination of efforts by creating a unit responsible for borders issues.

(d) Steering and governance of the Border Programme

Workshop Co-Chair Wane said that the aim of the workshop was to exchange views on the structures to be put into place to ensure the effective implementation of the AU Border Programme. In this regard, he made the following proposals:

- ▶ At the level of the AU Commission, appoint a team of three (3) to five (5) persons responsible for monitoring the implementation of the Program on a daily basis;
- ▶ Expand the Steering Committee to be representative of all regions of the AU and the diversity of experiences;
- ▶ Create a consultative structure, composed by the AU, Regional Economic Communities (RECs) and other initiatives like the Mozambique Corridor;

- ▶ Establish a forum that will ensure ongoing dialogue with partners to support the participating Member States in their implementation of the Programme.

Some participants made the following suggestions:

- ▶ The Commission should have a working session with institutions with experience in this field in order for the Commission to identify the expertise required to implement the Programme.
- ▶ Steps should be taken toward developing a Convention of the African Union Borders so that the principles contained in the Declaration adopted in July 2007 in Accra (Ghana) become obligatory for all Member States.
- ▶ The need to establish:
 - coordination mechanisms at the regional and national level for the facilitation of the Programme; and
 - efforts to involve civil society organisations in the implementation of the Programme.

At the end of the discussion, the meeting decided on:

- ▶ setting up a team to guide the Commission;
- ▶ expanding the Steering Committee;
- ▶ creating a structure composed of the Commission, the RECs, the Pan-African Parliament and other relevant institutions to assess the Programme's progress and direction;
- ▶ involving the partners in meetings; and
- ▶ establishing a timetable for the setting up the structures.

d COMMUNIQUÉ OF A TWO-DAY REGIONAL WORKSHOP FOR THE EASTERN AFRICA REGION ON THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE AU BORDER PROGRAMME, KAMPALA, UGANDA, 25 TO 26 SEPTEMBER 2008

A two-day regional workshop for the Eastern Africa region on the implementation of the AU Border Programme concludes today in Kampala.

As part of the implementation of the African Union Border Programme (AUBP), the AU Commission, together with the East African Community (EAC), the Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa (COMESA) and the Inter-governmental Authority on Development (IGAD), completed today, in Kampala, Uganda, a two-day workshop for the Eastern Africa Region. The workshop was opened yesterday, 25 September 2008, by the Minister for Internal Affairs of the Republic of Uganda, Hon. Ruhakana Rugunda, and closed by the Deputy Secretary-General of the EAC, Hon. Beatrice Kiraso. In attendance were experts of the countries of the region and the Regional Economic Communities (RECs), as well as AU partner organisations and other relevant institutions.

The workshop provided an opportunity to discuss the various aspects of the AUBP, assess the progress made in the region regarding the implementation of the AUBP and identify the challenges ahead. In this respect, the workshop agreed on concrete steps to be taken at national and regional levels to further the implementation of the AUBP, in particular with respect to the delimitation and demarcation of borders where such an exercise has not yet taken place, the development of cross-border cooperation and capacity building for border management, as well as partnership and resource mobilisation.

Four other regional workshops are planned for the Northern, Central, Southern and Western regions between October 2008 and April 2009. In collaboration with the concerned RECs, these regional workshops are intended to popularise the AUBP and facilitate the elaboration of regional action plans.

It should be recalled that the Declaration on the AUBP and its Implementation Modalities was adopted by the Conference of African Ministers in Charge of Border Issues, held in Addis Ababa on 7 June 2007.

The Declaration, which was endorsed by the AU Executive Council in Accra, in June 2007, has as an overall goal, the structural prevention of conflicts and the promotion of regional and continental integration. More specifically, it aims at facilitating the delimitation and demarcation of African borders, promoting cross-border cooperation and building the capacity of the relevant African actors in the area of border management, including the development of special education and research programmes.

e CONCLUSIONS OF THE REGIONAL WORKSHOP FOR NORTHERN AFRICA ON THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE AFRICAN UNION BORDER PROGRAMME ALGIERS, ALGERIA, 16 TO 17 OCTOBER 2008

- 1 As part of the follow-up to the Declaration on the African Union Border Programme (AUBP) and its Implementation Modalities as adopted by the Conference of African Ministers in Charge of Border Issues, held in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, on 7 June 2007, and subsequently endorsed by the AU Executive Council at its 11th Ordinary Session held in Accra, Ghana, from 27 to 29 June 2007, a regional workshop for Northern Africa on the implementation of the AUBP was organised by the AU Commission in Algiers (at the headquarters of the African Centre for the Study and Research on Terrorism – ACSRT), Algeria, from 16 to 17 October 2008. The workshop was opened by the AU Commissioner for Peace and Security and the Director-General for Legal and Consular Affairs in the Algerian Ministry of Foreign Affairs on behalf of the host country, Algeria.
- 2 The workshop was attended by the following Member States of the Northern Africa Region: Algeria, Egypt, Libya, the Sahrawi Arab Democratic Republic (SADR) and Tunisia.
- 3 The following Regional Economic Communities (RECs) were also in attendance: CENSAD, COMESA, EAC, ECCAS and ECOWAS.
- 4 In addition, the United Nations Secretariat, the United Nations Economic Commission for Africa (UN-ECA), the Nigerian National Boundary Commission (NBC), GTZ and other organisations and NGOs were also represented at the workshop, as observers.
- 5 The workshop provided an opportunity to review the progress made in the overall implementation of the AUBP. In particular, the workshop focused its deliberations on the concrete steps being taken at the level of the North African region to follow-up on the specific aspects of the AUBP as they relate to delimitation and demarcation, cross-border cooperation and capacity building, as well as other aspects of the Programme pertaining to popularisation, partnership and resource mobilisation.

- 6 At the end of its deliberations, the workshop reached the following conclusions:

- (a) Delimitation and demarcation

- 7 The workshop welcomed the significant progress made by the countries of the region in the delimitation and demarcation of their borders, which, as stressed by the Declaration on the AUBP and its Implementation Modalities, depends primarily on the sovereign decision of the States, and commended all the States concerned for their efforts and commitment. In order to consolidate the progress achieved thus far, the workshop recommends that:

- (i) the delimitation and demarcation of borders, where such an exercise has not yet taken place, be expedited, keeping in mind the deadline set by the African Heads of State and Government in the Memorandum of Understanding on the Conference on Security, Stability, Development and Cooperation in Africa (CSSDCA) adopted at the OAU Summit held in Durban, South Africa, in July 2002, and which provides for the completion of the exercise throughout the continent by 2012. The countries concerned are encouraged to regularly update the AU of the steps taken towards the realisation of this objective;
- (ii) concrete steps be taken to densify boundary beacons where required and, to this end, that detailed plans, including the related financial costs, be worked out to facilitate the mobilisation of the necessary resources;
- (iii) the Member States of the region which have not yet done so be encouraged to speed up the transmission to the AU Commission of the duly filled questionnaire on the status of African borders which was sent in April 2008. The Commission will re-send the questionnaire to facilitate the completion of this exercise by the end of 2008;
- (iv) the contact details of the border agencies and other relevant institutions and experts of the countries of the region be communicated to the AU Commission, as part of the response to the above-mentioned questionnaire, to facilitate inter-African cooperation in the area of delimitation and demarcation, through exchange of experiences and availability of experts; and

- (v) a technical meeting, bringing together relevant national boundary/cartographic/mapping/surveying bodies in Africa, be convened by 2009 to exchange experiences.

(b) Cross-border cooperation

- 8 The workshop noted with satisfaction the establishment by the countries of the region of mechanisms aimed at furthering cross-border cooperation in the region and between it and neighbouring countries in other regions. In this respect, the workshop highlighted both the on-going projects involving some of the countries of the region and other neighbouring States, including those relating to infrastructure, such as the Trans-Saharan Highway Project and the Trans-Saharan Gas Pipeline Project, as well as others dealing with health, trade, free movement of people, environment, civil defence, combating of illegal immigration, and security.

9 The workshop recommends that:

- (i) a comprehensive inventory of existing cross-border cooperation initiatives and agreements in the region be undertaken, in order to popularise them, assess their state of implementation and make recommendations on how they could contribute further to the achievement of the objectives of the AUBP. In this respect, the countries of the region are encouraged to extend the necessary cooperation and support to the consultancy that the AU Commission is planning to undertake in due course, as part of the initial measures for the launching of the AUBP as spelt out in the Declaration adopted in Addis Ababa in June 2007;
- (ii) the links between all on-going cross-border cooperation initiatives and the relevant provisions of the AUBP be highlighted, with the view to placing them under the umbrella of the Programme and sensitising all the actors involved about its objectives;
- (iii) further steps be taken to deepen local cross-border cooperation initiatives, including the elaboration of appropriate legal instruments and the establishment of regional funds, as called for by the AUBP Declaration. On its part, the AU Commission should facilitate exchange of experiences with other regions of the continent. As an initial step, the AU Commission will sponsor a field trip of North African experts to West Africa by the first half of 2009, to be followed by a visit of experts from other regions to North Africa;

- (iv) where appropriate, joint management of resources, building on relevant experiences in the rest of the continent, be encouraged. The AU Commission should facilitate exchange of experiences in that regard; and
- (v) cross-border cooperation in the area of prevention and combating of terrorism, as well as transnational crime, be strengthened. In this respect, the workshop requests the ACSRT to facilitate and support, as appropriate, such initiatives.

(c) Capacity building

10 The workshop stressed the critical importance of capacity building for the successful implementation of the AUBP, through, among others, training, exchange of experiences and research aimed at deepening the understanding of border-related issues on the continent and building a strong knowledge infrastructure, as well as collaboration with relevant structures outside Africa.

11 The workshop, therefore, recommends that:

- (i) an inventory of all management, research and training institutions dealing with border issues in the Northern African region be undertaken. In this respect, the countries of the region are encouraged to extend the necessary cooperation and support to the consultancy that the AU Commission is planning to undertake in due course, as part of the initial measures for the launching of the AUBP as spelt out in the Declaration adopted in Addis Ababa in June 2007;
- (ii) the development of networking amongst the relevant institutions in Northern Africa and with other similar institutions in the continent and outside Africa be encouraged. The countries of the region should update the AU Commission regularly on the steps taken in this respect;
- (iii) the inclusion of cross-border cooperation curricula in the educational systems of the countries of the region, with emphasis on regional integration, be encouraged; and

- (iv) with the support of the AU Commission and other relevant institutions, training and sensitisation workshops on the AUBP, including the environmental impact of cross-border projects, be organised for borderland authorities, to facilitate the implementation of the Programme.

(d) Popularisation of the AUBP and follow-up with Member States

12 The workshop stressed the need to effectively popularise the AUBP to ensure ownership at regional, national and local levels, as well as that of continued interaction between the Commission and Member States in the implementation process of the Programme. To this end, and as part of the public relations strategy being carried out by the AU Commission, the workshop recommends the following:

- (i) the organisation by the Member States of the Northern African region, where possible by 2009, of national workshops bringing together all stakeholders, in order to sensitise them on the AUBP and its objectives;
- (ii) the submission, where appropriate, of briefings on the AUBP and its implementation during meetings on cross-border projects and programmes;
- (iii) (the use of national media and other relevant institutions to popularise the AUBP activities;
- (iv) the encouragement of the appointment/designation by the Member States of the Northern Africa region of focal points for the AUBP; and
- (v) the submission by the Member States of the Northern African region of regular reports relating to the implementation of the AUBP, in line with the decision adopted by the AU Executive Council in Accra in June 2007.

(e) Partnership and resource mobilisation

13 The workshop noted with satisfaction the steps taken by the AU Commission to build the necessary partnerships and mobilise the required resources for the implementation of the AUBP, in accordance with the initial measures identified in the Declaration for the launching of the Programme, and expressed its gratitude to the partners who have so far provided technical and/or financial support (Germany, through GTZ, Italy and the United Nations). The workshop encouraged the Commission to pursue these efforts in order to mobilise further support both from within and outside Africa.

- 14 The workshop expressed its deep appreciation to the Government of Algeria for having hosted this meeting and for its support, which contributed greatly to the success of this event.

f CONCLUSIONS OF THE 2ND INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON LAND, RIVER AND LAKE BOUNDARIES MANAGEMENT, MAPUTO, MOZAMBIQUE, 17 TO 19 DECEMBER 2008, AUBP/EXP/3(VI)

- 1 As part of the follow-up to the Declaration on the African Union Border Programme (AUBP) and its Implementation Modalities, as adopted by the Conference of African Ministers in Charge of Border Issues, held in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, on 7 June 2007, and subsequently endorsed by the Executive Council of the African Union (AU) at its 11th Ordinary Session held in Accra, Ghana, from 27 to 29 June 2007, the AU and the Government of Mozambique jointly organised the Second International Symposium on Land, River and Lake Boundaries Management, in Maputo, from 17 to 19 December 2008. The Symposium was opened by Honorable Benvinda Levy, Minister of Justice of the Republic of Mozambique, and Mr. El Ghas-sim Wane, Head of the Conflict Management Division (CMD) of the Peace and Security Department, on behalf of the AU Commission.
- 2 The Symposium was attended by the following Member States: Algeria, Benin, Botswana, Burkina Faso, Burundi, Cameroon, Cape Verde, Chad, Comoros, Republic of Congo, Côte d'Ivoire, Democratic Republic of Congo, Djibouti, Egypt, Ethiopia, Ghana, Republic of Guinea, Kenya, Liberia, Malawi, Mali, Mauritius, Mozambique, Namibia, Niger, Nigeria, Saharawi Arab Democratic Republic, Senegal, Sierra Leone, Somalia, South Africa, Sudan, Swaziland, Tanzania, Togo, Tunisia, Uganda, Zambia and Zimbabwe.
- 3 The following Regional Economic Communities (RECs) were also in attendance: CENSAD, ECCAS and ECOWAS.
- 4 In addition, the United Nations Secretariat, the United Nations Economic Commission for Africa (UN-ECA), the Organization of American States (OAS), the World Bank, as well as the German Technical Cooperation (GTZ) and a number of experts from China, Finland, France, Germany, Thailand, United Kingdom, USA, the International Border Research Unit (IBRU) of the University of Durham and the University of Kent (United Kingdom), were also represented at the Symposium.

- 5 The Symposium, which featured a number of technical presentations in plenary sessions and discussions both in plenary and working groups, provided an opportunity for the sharing of ideas and experiences on issues relating to the delimitation, demarcation, reaffirmation and management of boundaries, as well as to cross-border cooperation.
- 6 At the end of the deliberations, the Symposium reached the following conclusions:

A. General considerations

- 7 The participants stressed the need for continued and sustained efforts by the AU Member States and Commission, the RECs and other stakeholders to ensure the effective implementation of the AUBP, which provides a framework for comprehensively addressing border issues, both with respect to delimitation and demarcation and cross-border cooperation, with the overall objective of contributing to the prevention of conflicts and the promotion of integration.
- 8 The participants also underlined the continued relevance of the conclusions of the First International Symposium on Land and River Boundary Demarcation and Maintenance in Support of Borderland Development, held in Bangkok, Thailand, from 7 to 9 November 2006.
- 9 The participants agreed as follows:
 - (i) the centrality of the principle of the respect of borders existing on achievement of national independence, as enshrined in the Charter of the Organization of African Unity (OAU), resolution AHG/Res.16(I) on border disputes between African States, adopted by the 1st Ordinary Session of the Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the OAU, held in Cairo, Egypt, in July 1964, and article 4(b) of the Constitutive Act of the AU, to the continent's efforts to define its boundaries;
 - (ii) boundary problems in Africa are not uniquely African. Thus, valuable lessons can be learned from delimitation and demarcation experiences in other parts of the world. Best practices in Africa can usefully be shared among African countries and with other continents;
 - (iii) boundaries may be perceived by borderland populations as imposed barriers which do not reflect local realities. Strategies need to be developed by Governments to sensitise and involve borderland populations in the mark-

- ing of borders, to ensure that clearly delimited and appropriately demarcated boundaries are seen as a valuable foundation for borderland development rather than a threat to local communities. Borderland populations could also be involved in the development and implementation of effective border management strategies;
- (iv) effective delimitation and demarcation take time. 2012 is the date set by African leaders for the completion of delimitation and demarcation of Africa's boundaries where such an exercise has not yet taken place [Memorandum of Understanding on the Conference on Security, Stability, Development and Cooperation in Africa (CSSDCA) adopted by the OAU Assembly of Head of States and Government held in Durban, South Africa, in July 2002]. Recognizing that the achievement of this objective will require more sustained efforts, participants stressed the need for the AU Member States to do whatever is in their power in order, as much as possible, to meet the time-limit set out by the Declaration on the CSSDCA;
 - (v) delimitation, demarcation, mapping and management are essential steps towards creating peaceful and prosperous borderlands, but on their own they will not achieve these goals. Hence, the need for sustained efforts to promote cross-border cooperation and set targets to be achieved within a specific period of time, including the establishment of joint border management mechanisms between Member States. Reaffirmation of boundaries (e.g. erection of intermediate markers) and their maintenance will facilitate the achievement of this objective;
 - (vi) states engaged in boundary reaffirmation should, where necessary, consider agreeing on Protocols to existing delimitation and demarcation instruments;
 - (vii) rivers and lakes boundaries create special challenges in terms of (a) delimitation and demarcation; and (b) the management of shared water and other resources. The sharing of experiences and best practices in these areas is particularly important;
 - (viii) some States face particular challenges in boundary demarcation due to the presence of landmines in border areas. The international community should support these countries to clear mined areas in order to facilitate de-

- marcation exercises and other cross-border activities;
- (ix) differing interpretations of terms used in the definition of boundaries can lead to disagreements over delimitation and demarcation of boundaries. The development of a multi-language lexicon of relevant terms should be a goal of the AUBP; and
- (x) the implementation of the AUBP requires continued collaboration between the AU, Member States, RECs and other partners. Early completion of the questionnaire on the status of African borders (sent to Member States in April 2008) would be a valuable contribution to the implementation of the AUBP.

B. Specific recommendations

10 The participants made the following recommendations:

- (i) the establishment, by the AU Commission, of a working group to prepare a practical handbook on delimitation and demarcation in Africa, highlighting best practices in/ guidelines for delimitation, demarcation, maintenance and of African boundaries reaffirmation, as well as recovery of boundary marks. This working group could also be charged with preparing a lexicon of relevant terms as highlighted above;
- (ii) the launching, by the AU Commission, of a consultancy to: (a) identify options for enhancing boundary delimitation and demarcation research and training capacity in African universities and technical agencies (e.g. national survey authorities), and (b) map African capacity needs in delimitation, demarcation, reaffirmation and maintenance and source for assistance from development partners;
- (iii) the implementation, by the AU Commission, of steps aimed at facilitating the communication by the former colonial powers of all information in their possession concerning the delimitation and demarcation of African boundaries, in line with paragraph 5 (a - iii) of the Declaration on the AUBP and its Implementation Modalities;
- (iv) the reinforcement of the human resource capacity of the AUBP Unit of the AU Commission, in order to assist Member States in the acquisition of documents relevant to boundary delimitation and demarcation exercise from colonial archives;

- (v) the convening, by the AU, of an international Symposium in Africa focusing on border management, cross-border cooperation and borderland development;
- (vi) parties to border disputes and conflicts should be encouraged to initiate and pursue bilateral negotiations on all problems relating to the delimitation, demarcation and maintenance of their borders with, where appropriate, the support of the AU and other African regional institutions;
- (vii) the promotion of an “African Border Day”, to highlight the importance of the AUBP and encourage further efforts towards its implementation, particularly with respect to delimitation, demarcation and management, as well as cross-border development and cooperation; and
- (viii) the establishment by Member States, as soon as possible, of National Boundary Commissions or similar agencies (where they do not exist), and legal bilateral arrangements to handle boundary matters between them.

g REPORT OF THE COMMISSION ON THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE AFRICAN UNION BORDER PROGRAMME (AUBP), EXECUTIVE COUNCIL, 29 TO 30 JANUARY 2009, ADDIS ABABA, ETHIOPIA, EX.CL/459 (XIV)

I. INTRODUCTION

- 1 At its 11th Ordinary Session held in Accra, Ghana, from 25 to 29 June 2007, the Executive Council endorsed the Declaration on the African Union Border Programme (AUBP) and its Implementation Modalities, as adopted by the Conference of African Ministers in Charge of Border Issues, held in Addis Ababa, on 7 June 2007. The Council requested the Chairperson of the Commission and Member States to take all necessary steps for the implementation of the AUBP and submit regular reports thereon to the AU policy organs.
- 2 The present report first recalls the context in which the AUBP was adopted and the key elements of the Programme. It then proceeds to provide an update on the steps taken so far towards the implementation of the AUBP, since June 2007. The report concludes with observations on the way forward.

II. BACKGROUND

- 3 Since African countries gained independence, the borders – which were drawn during the colonial period in a context of rivalries between European countries and their scramble for territories in Africa – have been a recurrent source of conflicts and disputes in the continent. Most of the borders are poorly defined. The location of strategic natural resources in cross-border areas poses additional challenges.
- 4 This challenge was taken up early enough by African leaders who were inspired by the conviction that the achievement of greater unity and solidarity among African States and peoples requires the reduction of the burden of borders separating them. They were thus convinced that by transcending the borders as barriers and promoting them as bridges linking one State to another, Africa can boost the ongoing efforts to integrate the continent, strengthen its unity and promote peace, security and stability through the structural prevention of conflicts.
- 5 It is against this background that the Member States adopted a number of political and legal instruments to guide their efforts in the management of border issues. In this respect, the following are worth mentioning:
 - the principle of the respect of borders existing on achievement of national independence, as enshrined in the Charter of the Organization of African Unity (OAU), Resolution AHG/Res.16(I) on border disputes between African States, adopted by the 1st Ordinary Session of the Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the OAU, held in Cairo, Egypt, in July 1964, and Article 4 (b) of the AU Constitutive Act;
 - the principle of negotiated settlement of border disputes, as provided for in Resolution CM/Res.1069(XLIV) on peace and security in Africa through negotiated settlement of boundary disputes, adopted by the 44th Ordinary Session of the Council of Ministers of the OAU, held in Addis Ababa, in July 1986; and
 - the Memorandum of Understanding on Security, Stability, Development and Cooperation in Africa (CSSDCA), adopted by the OAU Assembly of Heads of State and Government held in Durban, South Africa, in July 2002 [Decision CM/Dec.666(LXXVI)], which provides for the delineation and demarcation of inter-African borders by 2012, with the assistance of the UN Cartographic Unit where required.

- 6 During the 8th Ordinary Session of the Assembly of the Union, held in Addis Ababa from 29 to 30 January 2007, the Commission was encouraged to pursue its efforts with regard to the structural prevention of conflicts, including through the implementation of the AUBP [Decision Assembly/AU/Dec.145 (VIII)]. As a follow-up to this decision, the Commission convened, in Addis Ababa, on 7 June 2007, the first-ever Conference of African Ministers in Charge of Border Issues. The Conference adopted a Declaration on the AUBP and its Implementation Modalities, which, as indicated above, was endorsed by the Executive Council in Accra.
- 7 As spelt out in the Declaration, the AUBP aims at:
 - addressing the issue of border delimitation and demarcation;
 - consolidating the gains made in the regional integration process, as demonstrated by the existence of the Regional Economic Communities (RECs) and of numerous large-scale cooperation initiatives; and
 - facilitating the development of cross-border integration dynamics sustained by local stakeholders.
- 8 In their Declaration, the Ministers stressed that the implementation of the AUBP should be effected at several levels – national, regional and continental – and that the responsibility of each of these levels should be determined on the basis of the principle of subsidiarity and respect for the sovereignty of States. In this regard, the Declaration specifies the respective roles to be played by Member States, RECs and the AU with respect to the various components of the AUBP, namely border delimitation and demarcation, local cross-border cooperation and capacity building.
- 9 With respect to resource mobilisation and partnership, the Ministers requested the Commission to coordinate and implement the AUBP on the basis of an inclusive governance involving the Member States, the RECs, parliamentarians, locally elected representatives and civil society, as well as the European border movement, particularly the Association of European Border Regions (AEBR), the United Nations and other AU partners having experience in cross-border cooperation.
- 10 In order to launch the AUBP, the Ministers identified a number of initial measures to be taken by the Commission. These are the following:
 - launching of a Pan-African survey of borders, through a questionnaire to be sent to all Member States, in order to facilitate the delimitation and demarcation of African borders;

- identification of pilot regions or initiatives for the rapid development of regional support programmes on cross-border cooperation, as well as support for the establishment of regional funds for local cross-border cooperation;
- working out modalities for cooperation with other regions of the world to benefit from their experiences and to build the necessary partnerships;
- initiating an assessment with regard to capacity building;
- preparation of a continental legal instrument on cross-border cooperation; and
- launching of a partnership and resource mobilisation process for the implementation of the AUBP.

III. STATUS OF IMPLEMENTATION OF THE AUBP

- 11 As a follow-up to the Accra Decision, the Commission, with the financial support of the German Technical Cooperation (GTZ), organised a workshop in Djibouti, on 1 and 2 December 2007, to assist it in elaborating a three-year plan of action for the implementation of the AUBP. The workshop brought together representatives of RECs and other African integration organisations, including river basin institutions, the African Development Bank (AfDB), the UN Secretariat and other UN institutions, the European Union (EU), the Organization of American States (OAS) and a number of specialised institutions and experts.
- 12 The workshop made it possible for the Commission to elaborate an implementation matrix, which covers a number of areas: capacity building; popularisation; delimitation and demarcation, including the survey of African borders, the mobilisation of resources and exchange of experiences; cross-border cooperation, including the elaboration of the required legal frameworks and the establishment of regional funds; partnership and resource mobilisation.
- 13 In pursuance of the Accra Decision and based on this implementation matrix, the Commission has undertaken the following activities:

a) Pan-African Survey of Borders

- 14 As indicated above, the Declaration on the AUBP and its Implementation Modalities requested the Commission to launch a Pan-African survey of borders, through a questionnaire to be sent to all Member States, in order to facilitate the delimitation and demarcation of African borders. As a follow-up to this Declaration, the Commission prepared the requested questionnaire, which covers issues relating to the status of Member States' continental and maritime boundaries, as well as the contact details of the institutions responsible for border issues.

- 15 On 15 April 2008, my predecessor, Chairperson Alpha Oumar Konaré, wrote to all Ministers of Foreign Affairs/External Relations of Member States, to forward the questionnaire, highlighting its importance in the overall implementation of the AUBP. At the time of finalising this report, ten Member States had responded to the questionnaire. These are:

- (i) Algeria;
- (ii) Burkina Faso;
- (iii) Cameroon;
- (iv) Mali;
- (v) Mauritius;
- (vi) Mozambique;
- (vii) Namibia;
- (viii) Niger;
- (ix) Sudan; and
- (x) Tunisia.

- 16 I urge all the Member States that have not yet done so to complete the questionnaire. This will make it possible to have a comprehensive view of the status of African borders and facilitate the mobilisation of the financial, technical and human resources needed for their delimitation and demarcation.

b) Establishment of a Boundary Information System

- 17 In order to facilitate the utilisation of the information received in response to the questionnaire, the Commission has taken steps to establish a Boundary Information System (BIS). The core functions of the BIS will be to provide an overview of the status of all African borders based on the questionnaire returns. This will facilitate the monitoring of progress towards their delimitation and demarcation. Other functions of the BIS will include a database of African border experts and cross-border cooperation initiatives in the continent. On 15 July 2008, the Commission organised, in Addis Ababa, a technical meeting on the establishment of the BIS, which brought together experts from the RECs, the UN, GTZ and relevant African and international institutions. Based on the recommendations of that meeting, the Commission is currently mobilizing the required expertise, as well as acquiring the IT equipment needed to facilitate the operationalisation of the BIS.

c) Sensitisation on the AUBP

(i) Regional workshops on the AUBP

- 18 The effective implementation of the AUBP requires that the Programme be adequately popularised, so that the various stakeholders are given ownership of it. Within this framework, and on the basis of the recommendations of the Djibouti workshop of December 2007, my predecessor wrote, on 11 April 2008, to all the Chief Executives of the RECs. In the letters, he informed the RECs of the intention of the Commission to organise five regional workshops aimed at sensitising the various stakeholders on the AUBP and mobilising their support for its implementation, as well as assisting the RECs in elaborating regional action plans within the framework of the implementation of the Programme.
- 19 Following a preparatory meeting with the RECs, which took place in Addis Ababa on 14 July 2008, the key parameters and agenda of the proposed regional workshops were laid down. In this respect, the following was agreed upon regarding the dates and venues of these workshops:
 - East Africa: in September 2008, in Kampala, Uganda;
 - North Africa: in October 2008, in Algiers, Algeria;
 - Central Africa: in February 2009, in Libreville, Gabon;
 - Southern Africa: in March 2009, in Windhoek, Namibia; and
 - West Africa: in April 2009, in Ouagadougou, Burkina Faso.
- 20 It was also agreed that these workshops would be organised based on the following generic agenda:
 - status of the implementation of the AUBP;
 - consideration of specific aspects of the AUBP (delimitation, demarcation and reaffirmation of African borders, response to the AU questionnaire on the status of African borders, cross-border cooperation, capacity building and resource mobilisation);
 - Boundary Information System for the AUBP;
 - outreach strategy for the AUBP; and
 - elaboration of regional action plans.
- 21 The first regional workshop took place in Kampala, from 24 to 25 September 2008, under the joint auspices of the AU and the EAC.

The workshop was attended by the following members of the Eastern Africa region: Comoros, Djibouti, Ethiopia, Kenya, Mauritius, Seychelles, Somalia, Sudan, Tanzania and Uganda. Other participants included CENSAD, COMESA, ECCAS, ECOWAS and IGAD, the United Nations, GTZ and other partner organisations.

- 22 The workshop made a number of recommendations. Regarding delimitation and demarcation, the workshop encouraged the countries of the region to: establish, where appropriate, national boundary institutions and joint bodies with neighbouring States; expedite the completion of the AU questionnaire on the status of African borders; and share their experiences among themselves, as well as with other regions in the continent and outside Africa. On cross-border cooperation, the workshop, among others, recommended the appointment of focal points at RECs and member States levels; the inventory of all cross-border initiatives in the region; and the establishment of an informal coordinating mechanism that would bring together COMESA, EAC and IGAD, as well as other regional initiatives, to coordinate all efforts relating to cross-border cooperation.
- 23 The second regional workshop took place in Algiers, for the Northern African Region, from 16 to 17 October 2008. Algeria, Egypt, Libya, SADR and Tunisia participated in the workshop. Other participants included representatives of CENSAD, COMESA, EAC, ECCAS and ECOWAS, as well as the UN, GTZ and other institutions.
- 24 The workshop welcomed the significant progress made by the countries of the region in the delimitation and demarcation of their borders. In order to consolidate the progress thus far achieved, the workshop recommended notably that concrete steps be taken to densify boundary beacons where required, to expedite the transmission to the AU Commission of the duly filled questionnaire on the status of African borders, and to forward the contact details of the border agencies and other relevant institutions and experts of the countries of the region, to facilitate inter-African cooperation in the area of delimitation and demarcation.
- 25 Regarding cross-border cooperation, the recommendations made include undertaking a comprehensive inventory of existing cross-border cooperation initiatives and agreements in the region; the deepening of local cross-border cooperation initiatives, including through the elaboration of appropriate legal instruments and the establishment of regional funds; the encouragement of the joint management of resources in border areas, where appropriate; and the strengthening of cross-border cooperation in the prevention and combating of terrorism, as well as transnational crime. Other recommendations were made with respect to capacity building, popularisation of the AUBP and partnership and resource mobilisation.

- 26 The three other regional workshops will be held in the first quarter of 2009. Based on the arrangements agreed to with the concerned RECs, the workshop for Central Africa will take place in Libreville from 19 to 20 February 2009; the one for Southern Africa in Windhoek, in mid-March 2009; and the one for West Africa, in Ouagadougou, in April 2009. At the time of finalizing this report, practical arrangements were being made with ECCAS for the holding of the regional workshop for Central Africa.

(ii) Publication of a brochure on the AUBP

- 27 In mid-August 2008, the Commission, with the assistance of UNHCR, published in a booklet format the Declaration on the AUBP and its Implementation Modalities. This booklet was circulated to all diplomatic missions in Addis Ababa, as well as to a number of institutions in the continent and outside Africa. It has also been posted on the AU website. Plans are also underway to publish a book on the AUBP entitled: "From barriers to bridges – Overview of AU's efforts to address border issues in Africa". This book will be a compilation of all relevant OAU/AU documents on border issues and will bring to a wider audience the initiatives and steps taken to date at the continental level to address border-related issues.

(iii) Elaboration of an Outreach Strategy

- 28 The Commission has also elaborated an outreach strategy, whose goal is to create awareness of, and support for, the AUBP among Member States and other actors, including civil society organisations and border communities. More specifically, the strategy aims at building a sustainable dialogue with key stakeholders and facilitating the implementation of the AUBP by highlighting its benefits. In this respect, steps will be taken to brand the AUBP as a Programme that seeks to transform borders from barriers to bridges. The objective is to make the AUBP easier to recognise and understand, so as to ensure a connection between the Programme and the different target groups. The outreach strategy is envisaged as a multi-year, multi-media and multi-level strategy campaign. It will thus be implemented in phases, using a variety of media channels to take into account the different profiles of the target groups and working at different levels: continental, regional and national.

- 29 In the coming months, the Commission will embark on the implementation of the pan-African aspects of the strategy. Among other activities, it is planned to feature articles and place adverts in in-flight magazines of major African airlines, especially given their role in connecting the African countries and allowing exchanges between nations; carry out specific activities with pan-African TV broadcasters; and work with existing African film festivals to introduce awards for film making competitions on border issues.

c) Capacity building

- 30 In the Declaration on the AUBP, the Ministers stressed the need to carry out an inventory of African Institutions that offer training in border related issues, explore avenues for collaboration with relevant training centres outside Africa and, on the basis of the above, design a capacity building programme. In this respect, the Commission intends to launch, in the first quarter of 2009, a consultancy that would aim at making concrete recommendations on the knowledge infrastructure (educational institutions, funds and scholarship schemes) that would sustainably support the AUBP. This will involve the identification of Centres of Excellence and the elaboration of educational curricula.
- 31 The Ministers also requested the Commission to take the necessary steps for the enhancement of the capacity of the Conflict Management Division of the Peace and Security Department of the Commission to enable it to play the role expected of it. I am pleased to report that two experts on border issues have been recruited to follow-up on the implementation of the AUBP. Other recruitments will be made in the coming months, particularly in order to speed up the operationalisation of the BIS and to support cross-border cooperation initiatives.
- 32 In order to provide the Commission with all the expertise required for the elaboration and implementation of the AUBP, a Steering Committee, made up of African experts, was put in place in November 2006. The Steering Committee has made a valuable contribution to the efforts of the Commission, providing the requisite support for the convening of the various meetings organised in the run-up to the Ministerial Conference on Border Issues and the activities that were undertaken subsequently. On 10 and 11 July 2008, the Steering Committee met in Addis Ababa to review the status of implementation of the AUBP and prepare a programme for 2009. Steps are underway to review the composition of the Steering Committee and its role in light of the current human resources capacity of the Commission.

- 33 Similarly, the Commission has taken steps to encourage AU partners to support relevant African institutions. Following consultations with the Commission, GTZ has extended technical and financial support to the Nigeria-based African Regional Institute (AFRI), which is specialised on border issues. This support relates to the organisation of cross-border workshops, training programmes for border administration authorities and institutional support to AFRI.

d) Partnership and resource mobilisation

- 34 In their above-mentioned Declaration, the Ministers requested the Commission to coordinate and implement the AUBP on the basis of an inclusive governance involving the member States, the RECs, parliamentarians, locally elected representatives and civil society, as well as the European border movement, particularly the AEBR, the UN and other AU partners having experience in cross-border cooperation. More specifically, the Commission was tasked to launch a partnership and resource mobilisation process for the implementation of the AUBP. I am pleased to report that the Commission has been able to mobilise significant support for the implementation of the AUBP, and is building close relationship with a number of partners, both bilateral and multilateral.

(i) Germany

- 35 On 13 February 2008, the German Minister for Foreign Affairs, Dr. Frank-Walter Steinmeier, wrote to my predecessor to offer the technical and financial support of his country to the AUBP. In his letter, the Minister stressed the importance of the delimitation and demarcation of African borders, as well as the promotion of cross-border cooperation, for the overall efforts aimed at preventing conflicts and ensuring the economic development of the continent. The Minister also indicated that Germany was prepared to work with individual AU Member States in the implementation of activities related to the AUBP.
- 36 On 5 March 2008, Chairperson Konaré wrote to Dr. Steinmeier to express AU's gratitude for the support of his country and to indicate that the Commission would work with GTZ to finalise the modalities of that support. Subsequently, the Commission and GTZ agreed on a support package revolving around the following:

- financial and technical support for the development of the BIS;
- financial support for the enhancement of the human resource capacity of the Commission;
- support for the development of a handbook covering methodology and best practices in the area of delimitation and demarcation;
- financial support for the convening of meetings and workshops relating to the AUBP; and
- financial and technical support to relevant African institutions and individual AU member States for the implementation of the AUBP.

- 37 For 2008, the German Government, through GTZ, has made available about 3.35 million Euros to support AUBP related activities; out of this amount, 800,000 Euros were directly allocated to the AU. These resources were used to support the convening of the following activities: the preparatory meeting with the RECs, held in Addis Ababa on 13 and 14 July 2008; the technical meeting on the BIS held in Addis Ababa on 15 July 2008; the two regional workshops held in Kampala and Algiers; and the 2nd International Symposium on Land, River and Lake Boundaries Management, held in Maputo from 17 to 19 December 2008. GTZ has also provided equipment and financial support for the payment of salaries of the staff working on the implementation of the AUBP. The German Government is planning to allocate additional funds in 2009.
- 38 Furthermore, the German Government, through GTZ, is also providing direct support to individual AU member States. In this respect, GTZ has supported the demarcation of parts of the Mali/Burkina Faso boundary, as well as activities relating to the delimitation and demarcation of Mozambican borders with some of its neighbours. On cross-border cooperation, GTZ has also supported initiatives in West Africa.

(ii) Italy

- 39 As part of the implementation of the Italian-African Peace Facility (IAPF), the Italian Government has committed itself to funding some components of the AUBP to an amount of about US$1.8 million. An exchange of letters to this effect took place, on 30 June 2008, on the margins of the sessions of the Executive Council and the Assembly of the Union in Sharm El Sheikh, Egypt, in June 2008. The Commission is awaiting the disbursement of the pledged funds.

(iii) United Nations

40 The Commission is also working closely with the UN, which, through its Cartographic Section, has an extensive experience on delimitation and demarcation. Significantly, the Solemn Declaration on the C SSDCA referred to above, which provides for the delimitation and demarcation of Africa borders where such an exercise has not yet taken place by 2012, stipulates that the assistance of the UN Cartographic Section will be sought where required. The UN has taken part in all the meetings organised so far by the AU with respect to the implementation of the AUBP. As part of the establishment of the BIS, the Commission is planning to send some of its staff to New York to learn more about the UN experience in recording, storing and using boundary data. Other collaborative actions are being contemplated.

(iv) European Union

41 In elaborating the AUBP, the AU, from the onset, examined the European model of cross-border cooperation as it could be a source of inspiration for initiatives on the continent. It is worth recalling here that cross-border cooperation initially developed spontaneously in Europe before being absorbed by the official integration policies. The INTEREG programme, which forms part of the EU's Cohesion Policy, is one of the main EU instruments to foster cross-border cooperation. For the period 2007 to 2013, the Community budget has allocated a total amount of about 8 billion Euros for cross-border cooperation. About 120 European regions implement cross-border cooperation programmes, and most of them are members of the AE BR, which, in the past few years, has shown interest in cross-border cooperation activities in Africa. The AE BR has, among others, participated in the preparatory meeting of experts that preceded the Ministerial Conference on Border Issues.

42 It is in this context that, during the 6th meeting of the bi-annual Joint EU-AU Task Force, held in Brussels on 17 and 18 September 2007, the two Commissions discussed extensively how best to work together towards the successful implementation of the AUBP. It was agreed that the focus should be on the following: invitation to each others' meetings; exchange of experiences and best practices, including the elaboration of legal instruments for cross-border cooperation and capacity building; and twinning arrangements between European and African border regions. The issue was also discussed during the 7th meeting of Joint EU-AU Task Force held in Addis Ababa on 17 and 18 April 2008. In the meantime, the EC participated in the Djibouti workshop. The Commission intends to pursue actively the cooperation initiatives with the EU, in view of the latter's wealth of experience in cross-border cooperation.

(v) Organization of American States

- 43 Latin America has developed a rich experience in dealing with border and territorial disputes. Hence, the Commission has endeavoured to build a cooperative relationship with the OAS, with the view to benefiting from the experience of Latin America in the implementation of the AUBP. During the meeting between the OAS and the AU on the theme "Promoting Democracy in Latin America and Africa – from Rhetoric to Reality", held in Washington from 10 to 12 July 2007, the two parties agreed to exchange and cooperate on issues relating to demarcation and cross-border cooperation. Since then, the OAS has participated in two AU meetings, sharing its own experience, namely the Djibouti workshop and the International Symposium that took place in Maputo in December 2008.

(e) International Symposium on Land, Lake and River Boundaries Management in support of Borderland Development

- 44 As part of the efforts to implement the AUBP, in particular in its components pertaining to capacity building and partnership, the Commission supported the convening of the Second International Symposium on Land, Lake and River Boundary Management, which took place in Maputo, Mozambique, from 17 to 19 December 2008. It is to be recalled that the First International Symposium on Land and River Boundaries Demarcation and Maintenance was held in Bangkok, Thailand, in November 2006. At the Bangkok Symposium, the Republic of Mozambique offered to host in Maputo, in 2008, the Second International Symposium. It should further be recalled that, during the Conference of African Ministers in Charge of Border Issues, the Head of the Mozambican delegation, Dr. Eduardo Koloma, Deputy Minister for Foreign Affairs and Co-operation, invited all AU Member States to attend this important event.

45 This Symposium had, among others, the following objectives:

- promote exchange of experiences and best practices among countries regarding the management of international land, lake and river boundaries;
- facilitate the elaboration of guidelines on processes, methodologies and technologies for the management of land, lake and river boundaries, taking into account international experience and best practices;
- strengthen partnerships and cooperation between government representatives in charge of border issues and experts in academic institutions; and
- incorporate the management of boundaries in international assistance programmes.

46 The Symposium was opened by Dr. Benvinda Levy, Minister of Justice of the Republic of Mozambique, and a representative of the Commission. It was attended by the following Member States: Algeria, Benin, Botswana, Burkina Faso, Burundi, Cameroon, Cape Verde, Chad, Comoros, Republic of Congo, Côte d'Ivoire, Democratic Republic of Congo, Djibouti, Egypt, Ethiopia, Ghana, Republic of Guinea, Kenya, Liberia, Malawi, Mali, Mauritius, Mozambique, Namibia, Niger, Nigeria, Saharawi Arab Democratic Republic, Senegal, Sierra Leone, Somalia, South Africa, Sudan, Swaziland, Tanzania, Togo, Tunisia, Uganda, Zambia and Zimbabwe. The following RECs were also in attendance: CENSAD, ECCAS and ECOWAS. In addition, the UN Secretariat, UN-ECA, the OAS, the World Bank, as well as GTZ and a number of international experts were also represented at the Symposium.

47 The Symposium, which featured technical presentations in plenary sessions and discussions both in plenary and working groups, provided an opportunity for the sharing of ideas and experiences on issues relating to cross-border cooperation, the delimitation, demarcation, reaffirmation and management of boundaries. Having stressed the need for continued and sustained efforts by the AU member States and Commission, the RECs and other stakeholders to ensure the effective implementation of the AUBP, the participants agreed as follows:

- boundary problems in Africa are not uniquely African. Thus, valuable lessons can be learned from delimitation and demarcation experiences in other parts of the world;
- boundaries may be perceived by borderland populations as imposed barriers which do not reflect local realities. Strategies need to be developed by Governments to sensitise and involve borderland populations in delimitation and demarcation exercises to ensure that clearly delimited and appropriately demarcated boundaries are seen as a valuable foundation for borderland development rather than a threat to local communities. Borderland populations also have much to contribute to the development and implementation of effective border management strategies;

- AU Member States need to intensify their efforts, as much as possible, in order to meet the time-limit set out by the CSSDCA Declaration for the delimitation and demarcation of African borders;
- States engaged in boundary reaffirmation should, where necessary, consider agreeing on Protocols to existing delimitation and demarcation instruments which define the boundary;
- rivers and lakes boundaries create special challenges in terms of (a) delimitation and demarcation and (b) the management of shared water and other resources. The sharing of experiences and best practices in these areas is particularly crucial;
- some States face particular challenges in boundary demarcation due to the presence of landmines in border areas. Efforts should be made by concerned Member States with the support of the international community to clear mined areas to facilitate delimitation and demarcation exercises, as well as other cross-border activities; and
- differing interpretations of terms used in the definition of boundaries can lead to disagreements over delimitation and demarcation of boundaries. The development of a multi-language lexicon of relevant terms should be a goal of the AUBP.

48 More specifically, the participants made the following recommendations:

- the establishment by the AU Commission of a working group to prepare a practical handbook on delimitation and demarcation in Africa, highlighting good practice in/guidelines for delimitation, demarcation, maintenance, reaffirmation and recovery of boundary marks. This working group could also be charged with preparing a lexicon of relevant terms as highlighted above;
- the launching by the AU Commission of a consultancy to: (a) identify options for enhancing boundary delimitation and demarcation research and training capacity in African universities and technical agencies, (b) map African capacity needs in delimitation, demarcation, reaffirmation and maintenance and source for assistance from development partners;

- the implementation by the Commission of steps aimed at facilitating the communication by the former colonial powers of all information in their possession concerning the delimitation and demarcation of African boundaries;
- the convening by the AU of an international Symposium in Africa focusing on border management, cross-border cooperation and borderland development;
- the promotion of an “African Border Day” to highlight its importance and encourage further efforts towards its implementation; and
- the establishment by Member States, as soon as possible, of National Boundary Commissions or similar agencies (where they do not exist), and bilateral arrangements to handle boundary matters between them.

IV. OBSERVATIONS

- 49 As stated by one expert on European borders: “Spatial boundaries have ambiguous features: they divide and unite, bind the interior and link it with the exterior, are barriers and junctions, walls and doors, organs of defence and attack and so on. Frontier areas (borderlands) can be managed so as to maximise any of these functions. They can be militarised, as bulwarks against neighbours, or be made into areas of peaceful interchange”. By adopting the AUBP, African leaders have clearly expressed their commitment to maximise the junction and bridge aspects of the African borders and ensure that they are managed in such a manner to contribute to the achievement of two key objectives of the AU, namely the structural prevention of conflicts and the deepening of the ongoing integration processes.
- 50 As indicated above, the inviolability of the borders inherited from colonisation is considered a principle for Africa, and their demarcation a priority. However, the decision made by African leaders to retain the inherited borders was not predicated on a desire to confine each country within its own designated territory. On the contrary, it means that border delimitation and demarcation is a condition for successful integration. A non-defined border is susceptible to being a source of contention, and even conflict. Border delimitation and demarcation, in a way, removes its potential nuisance; it opens the door rather than closes it; it allows for a healthy process of cooperation and integration.
- 51 Nearly half a century after the political liberation of the Continent, the delimitation and demarcation of the borders inherited from colonisation still face major technical and financial problems. Subject to the completion of the survey being currently carried out by the Commission, it is estimated that less than a quarter of African borders have been defined. This shows the magnitude of the work that African States have to accomplish in order to attain the objective set out in the CSSDCA Solemn Declaration, which is the delimitation and demarcation of those African borders that have not yet been defined by 2012, at the latest.

- 52 Clearly, this situation is fraught with risks. Indeed, the lack of definition of borders gives rise to “undefined zones” within which the application of national sovereignty poses problems. In these zones, a simple contention between two communities can lead to inter-State tensions. When these zones have natural resources (water, forest, petroleum, mineral or any other resource), their management could prove to be difficult and be a source of misunderstanding. The prevailing state of affairs also constitutes a real obstacle to the acceleration of the integration process. Indeed, it is a concrete obstacle to the facilitation of customs and police procedures necessary for the regional free movement desired by African States, which, apart from the central role it plays in regional integration, also contributes to the structural prevention of conflicts. Without a clear definition of the borders between two national territories, it is technically difficult to put in place, for example, joint control posts.
- 53 In line with the Declaration on the AUBP, border delimitation and demarcation should go hand-in-hand with cross-border cooperation. The objective here is to strengthen the institutional integration dynamics within the framework of the RECs and other wide-scale regional initiatives, such as the river basin management organisations and transport corridors, but also to provide the requisite legal frameworks and appropriate financial instruments, as well as the much-needed political support, to the cross-border initiatives ushered in by local actors in areas as varied as security, health, education and trade.
- 54 The importance of local cross-border cooperation and the contribution it can make to the overall effort at conflict prevention and integration hardly need to be emphasised. From a political point of view, such efforts contribute largely to regional integration, confidence-building, good neighbourliness, as well as to the implementation of the principles of subsidiarity and partnership. In institutional terms, their added value lies in the active participation of citizens, local government authorities and social groups on both sides of a border. Finally, from an economic point of view, they make possible the mobilisation of home-grown development potential, additional development in border areas, and sustainable improvement in territorial development and regional policies.

- 55 Over the past one year and a half, significant progress has been made in the implementation of the AUBP. The sensitisation of the various stakeholders is underway; there is today a much greater awareness of the need to speed up the delimitation and demarcation of African borders; numerous cross-border cooperation initiatives are ongoing; steps have been initiated to contribute to the enhancement of African capacity; and AU partners are showing increasing interest in the AUBP, with some of them already making significant contribution to the funding of the Programme.
- 56 At the same time, it is clear that further efforts are required, for the challenges to be met are both numerous and daunting. In the coming months, the Commission intends to intensify its sensitisation efforts through the completion of the series of regional workshops it has initiated jointly with the RECs and the implementation of critical components of the outreach strategy for the AUBP.
- 57 Efforts will also focus on the development of a legal framework for cross-border cooperation in Africa, with the convening of a meeting of legal experts sometimes in October 2009, as well as the launching of a consultancy on cross-border cooperation. Sustained attention will continue to be given to the issue of the enhancement of African capacity in the management of border issues. The Commission will also endeavour to facilitate exchange of experiences among AU Member States and with other regions outside Africa both on border delimitation and demarcation and on cross-border cooperation. Furthermore, the Commission will continue engaging Africa's partners to mobilise further resources and technical support for the AUBP. Given the cross-cutting nature of the AUBP, the Commission intends to convene a meeting bringing together all relevant Departments and Regional Offices to ensure greater synergy. Finally, the Commission is planning to convene the second Conference of African Ministers in Charge of Border Issues in November this year, to review the status of implementation of the AUBP Declaration and agree on the way forward.
- 58 It is crucial that Member States fully play the role expected of them in the implementation of the AUBP. In line with the Declaration on the AUBP, this requires that the Member States take the necessary steps to facilitate and accelerate the process of delimitation and demarcation of African boundaries where such an exercise has not yet taken place, including undertaking or pursuing bilateral negotiations on all problems related to this issue; support local cross-border co-operation initiatives; and contribute to the enhancement of African capacity, in particular by facilitating exchange of experiences and collaboration between relevant African bodies.

- 59 I would like to commend the German Government for its invaluable support, which allowed the Commission to implement a number of activities and to build the minimum capacity required for the effective follow-up and implementation of the AUBP. I urge other AU partners to extend assistance to the AUBP. I also appeal to AU Member States in a position to do so to contribute financially to the implementation of the Programme.

h CONCLUSIONS OF THE REGIONAL WORKSHOP FOR WEST AFRICA ON THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE AFRICAN UNION BORDER PROGRAMME, OUAGADOUGOU, BURKINA FASO, 23 TO 24 APRIL 2009

- 1 As part of the implementation of the Declaration on the African Union Border Programme (AUBP) and its Implementation Modalities as adopted by the Conference of African Ministers in Charge of Border Issues, held in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, on 7 June 2007, and subsequently endorsed by the AU Executive Council at its 11th Ordinary Session held in Accra, Ghana, from 27 to 29 June 2007, a regional workshop for West Africa on the implementation of the AUBP was jointly organised by the AU Commission and ECOWAS in Ouagadougou [LAICO OUAGA 2000 (Ex Sofitel)], Burkina Faso, from 23 to 24 April 2009. The Workshop was opened by the Honourable Minister of Territorial Administration and Decentralization of Burkina Faso. Statements were also delivered by the Head of the Conflict Management Division of the Peace and Security Department of the AU Commission and the Director for Free Movement of the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS).
- 2 The Workshop was attended by the following Member States of the West Africa Region: Benin, Burkina Faso, Côte d'Ivoire, The Gambia, Ghana, Liberia, Mali, Niger, Nigeria, Sierra Leone, Senegal and Togo.
- 3 The following Regional Economic Communities (RECs) were also in attendance: CEN-SAD, COMESA, EAC, ECCAS, ECOWAS and IGAD.
- 4 In addition, the following institutions and structures working in the field of cross-border cooperation and mechanisms also participated in the Workshop: African Academy of Languages (ACALAN), African Wildlife Federation, ENDA-DIAPOL, Ethiopia-Sudan Joint Border Development Commission, Liptako-Gourma Development Authority, Mano River Union, NEPAD, Niger Basin Authority, Permanent Inter-State Committee for Drought Control in the Sahel (CILSS) and the Sahel and West Africa Club/OECD. The following local cross-border cooperation initiatives: SeneGambia, Sikasso-Bobo-Khorogo, Karakoro and Kano-Katsine-Maradi also participated in the Workshop.

- 5 The Workshop provided an opportunity to review the progress made in the overall implementation of the AUBP. In particular, the workshop focused its deliberations on the concrete steps being taken at the level of West Africa to follow-up on the specific aspects of the AUBP as they relate to delimitation and demarcation, cross-border cooperation and capacity building, as well as to other aspects of the Programme pertaining to its popularisation, partnership and resource mobilisation.
- 6 At the end of its deliberations, the workshop reached the following conclusions:

a) Delimitation and demarcation

- 7 The workshop welcomed the significant progress made by the countries of the region in the delimitation and demarcation of borders (including the delimitation of maritime borders and efforts made towards the determination of the continental shelf) both within the region and between the countries of the region and other neighbouring countries, and commended all the States concerned for their efforts and commitment. In order to consolidate the progress achieved thus far, the Workshop made the following recommendations:
 - (i) Member States to expedite the delimitation and demarcation of borders where such an exercise has not yet taken place, keeping in mind the deadline set by the African Heads of State and Government in the Memorandum of Understanding on the Conference on Security, Stability, Development and Cooperation in Africa (CSSDCA) adopted at the OAU Summit held in Durban, South Africa, in July 2002, which provides for the completion of the exercise throughout the continent by 2012. In this regard, ECOWAS and the countries concerned are encouraged to regularly update the AU of the steps taken towards the realisation of this objective;
 - (ii) concrete steps be taken to regularly maintain and, where required, densify boundary beacons so as to make them more visible such that risks of disputes are reduced. To this end, Member States should work out detailed plans, including the related financial costs, to facilitate the mobilisation of the necessary resources for the exercise;

- (iii) urge Member States that have not yet done so to hasten the completion and transmission to the AU Commission of the questionnaire on the status of African borders which was sent in April 2008. The Commission will resend the questionnaire to facilitate the completion of this exercise before the end of 2009;
- (iv) urge Member States to communicate the contact details of their border agencies and other relevant institutions and experts to the AU Commission, as part of the response to the above-mentioned questionnaire, to facilitate inter-African cooperation in the area of delimitation and demarcation, through exchange of experiences and availability of experts;
- (v) in cases of border disputes, Member States should explore all options available, including recourse to African legal processes and conflict resolution mechanisms;
- (vi) encourage Member States to endeavour to acquire up to date mapping and cartographic information, as well as survey equipment, to facilitate accurate delimitation and demarcation exercises; and
- (vii) encourage Member States to undertake research in their respective Colonial archives to retrieve records relating to their boundaries.

b) Cross-border cooperation

- 8 The Workshop noted with satisfaction the initiatives aimed at furthering cross-border cooperation with the region and between it and other neighbouring countries. The Workshop further appreciated the depth of the cross-border experiences and the dynamism of the civil society actors in the region, who view borders as a resource. In this respect, the Workshop highlighted the local cross-border cooperation initiatives involving some of the countries of the region and other neighbouring States relating to the joint exploitation and management of trans-boundary resources and other issues such as illegal migration, cross-border crime, trade, health and education.

9 The Workshop recommended the following:

- (i) undertake a comprehensive inventory of existing cross-border cooperation initiatives and agreements in the region, in order to popularise them, assess their state of implementation and make recommendations on how they could contribute further to the achievement of the objectives of the AUBP. On its part, the AU Commission should facilitate exchange of experiences with other regions within the continent and beyond, particularly Europe, for capacity building and resource mobilisation. As an initial step, the AU Commission should sponsor a field trip to other African RECs to facilitate exchange of experiences;
- (iv) encourage, where appropriate, joint management of resources, building on relevant experiences in the rest of the continent. The AU Commission should facilitate exchange of experiences in that regard;

The Workshop took note of the existence of the African Regional Institute, Imeko, Nigeria, and its training programme and publications in support of the AUBP. The Workshop further welcomed the decision by ECOWAS Commission to establish, along with UNESCO, a West African Institute for Regional Integration in Cape Verde.
- 11 The Workshop recommended the following:

experiences.

- 18 After in-depth discussions, the meeting encouraged the Commission to vigorously pursue its efforts in order to mobilize further support within and outside the continent, and to undertake specific activities in this respect, including the organization of a Conference for the mobilization of resources to support delimitation and demarcation efforts on the continent, as well as cross-border cooperation; and the intensification of exchanges with the various international actors, particularly the EU, the United Nations, the Association of European Border Regions and other partners who have experience in the area of cross-border cooperation; and the allocation, by Member States, of sufficient budgetary resources for delimitation/demarcation and cross-border cooperation.

1 3RD CONFERENCE OF AFRICAN MINISTERS IN CHARGE OF BORDER ISSUES PREPARATORY MEETING OF GOVERNMENT EXPERTS, NIAMEY, NIGER, 14-16 MAY 2012

REPORT

I. INTRODUCTION

- 1 The preparatory meeting of Government Experts, for the 3rd Conference of African Ministers in charge of Border Issues, was held in Niamey, Niger, from 14 to 16 May 2012. The list of Member States, regional and international organisations and other participants is attached as an annex to this report.

II. OPENING CEREMONY

- 2 The opening ceremony was chaired by Mr. Abdou Labo, Minister of State for Interior, Public Security, Decentralisation and Religious Affairs of Niger. In his statement, the Minister recalled the importance of the African Union Border Programme (AUBP) in the promotion of peace and security, as well as in the regional integration and socio-economic development of the continent. He expressed the commitment of his country to support all the initiatives aimed at attaining the objectives of the AUBP. In conclusion, he expressed the hope that the Niamey Conference would set a new stage in the implementation of the AUBP and the attainment of its overall objectives.
- 3 On his part, the Director of the Peace and Security Department of the Commission of the African Union (AU), Mr. El-Ghassim Wane, after thanking the authorities of Niger for their decision to host the meeting, highlighted the achievements made in the AUBP. He also stressed the important challenges that remained to be addressed, and the need for continued mobilisation of the AU Member States as well as a strengthened partnership with the different international stakeholders.

III. COMPOSITION OF THE BUREAU

- 4 The meeting put in place the following bureau:
 - Benin (West Africa), Chairman
 - Uganda (East Africa), 1st Vice Chairman

- Tunisia (North Africa), 2nd Vice Chairman
- South Africa (Southern Africa), 3rd Vice Chairman; and
- Central African Republic (Central Africa), Rapporteur

IV. ADOPTION OF THE PROGRAMME OF WORK

- 5 The meeting of Government Experts adopted the programme of work proposed by the Commission, whose different items are enumerated in the following paragraphs.

V. PROJECTION OF THE DOCUMENTARY FILM

- 6 The Government Experts watched the documentary film on the AUBP entitled “African Borders: From Barriers to Bridges”. The film showed the results obtained in the implementation of the delimitation/demarcation and cross-border cooperation aspects of the AUBP through concrete examples in the different regions of the continent.

VI. CONSIDERATION OF AGENDA ITEMS

- 7 On the basis of the programme of work adopted by the meeting, the following items were considered:

Delimitation and demarcation of African borders

- 8 Introducing the item, the Commission presented the status of African borders, on the basis of the responses from Member States to the questionnaire sent to them within the framework of the survey of African borders. To date, thirty two Member States had responded to the questionnaire. These responses reflected that 35% of the African borders had been delimited and demarcated. The presentation of the Commission also focused on the process for the establishment of a Border Information System (BIS). Fed with the responses to the questionnaire and other data, this System would enable Member States to easily access information relating to their borders. Finally, the Commission reported on the action it carried out on the ground in support of the land and maritime border delimitation and demarcation operations.
- 9 The representatives of Member States then took the floor to give an overview of the status of delimitation and demarcation as well as the reaffirmation of their respective borders. It emerged there from that many initiatives were ongoing or being considered, which reflected greater ownership of the AUBP by the African States. The experts highlighted the challenges and difficulties they faced at the political, technical, financial and logistic levels.

10 After an in-depth exchange of views, the participants agreed on the following:

- (i) the finalisation, at the latest by July 2012, of the survey of African borders with the submission by the Member States, which had not yet done so, of their responses to the questionnaire sent by the Commission;
- (ii) the submission to the Commission by each Member State of an annual report on the progress made in the demarcation of their borders;
- (iii) the acceleration by Member States of the delimitation and demarcation process of their boundaries, where such an exercise has not yet taken place, and take all necessary measures so as to comply with the new deadline of 2017 set by the Assembly of the Union for the completion of these operations.
- (iv) the speedy settlement of existing border disputes by peaceful means;
- (v) the adoption of concrete measures to maintain regularly and, if necessary, densify the boundary pillars so as to make them more visible and reduce the risks of dispute and conflict.
- (vi) the speedy finalisation of the Guide on best practices in border delimitation and demarcation under preparation;
- (vii) the demining operations in the border areas that still have landmines.

Cross Border Cooperation and Regional Integration

11 The Commission underscored the activities carried out on the ground as well as other initiatives it envisaged to launch in support of cross-border cooperation (including the publication of a manual of good practices, a documentary on cross-border activities, a strategic document on the use of cross-border resources, exchange of experiences between regions and countries).

12 Presentations were also made on the different aspects of cross border cooperation, including cooperation of local communities, cross border crimes and fight against terrorism, joint management of cross-border resources and development of river basins. The different presentations enabled the Government Experts to take note of the progress made in the area of cross-border cooperation and the diverse sectors it covered. They noted an increased affirmation of ownership of the concept of cross border cooperation by the Member States. The progress made in the institutionalisation of cross-border cooperation in some countries engaged the attention of the meeting.

- 13 In order to attain the objectives of the AUBP in cross border cooperation, the meeting agreed to the following:
- (i) the effective implementation by the AU and Regional Economic Communities (RECs) of an exchange programme between African States and the other actors concerned;
 - (ii) the preparation of a plan of action aimed at encouraging and supporting cross border cooperation of local communities;
 - (iii) enhancement of cross-border cooperation in the field of prevention and fight against terrorism and other forms of cross border crimes;
 - (iv) the implementation and adoption, if necessary, by the Member States, of measures to reduce the transit time and other non-tariff barriers at the borders so as to facilitate trade and movement of persons;
 - (v) the encouragement of joint management of cross border resources on the basis of relevant African and international experiences; and
 - (vi) the finalisation of the Guide on cross- border cooperation, under preparation by the Commission, taking due account of the specificities of island states.

Draft Convention of the African Union on Cross- Border Cooperation

- 14 The Commission presented the draft AU Convention on Cross Border Cooperation that had been thoroughly considered by the meeting of experts, held in Bamako, in November 2009, and the Conference of Ministers in Addis Ababa in March 2010. It had then been agreed that the draft Convention should be finalised on the basis of some proposed amendments which had been proposed before further consideration. At its Ordinary Session of January 2012, the Assembly of the Union stressed the importance of the urgent adoption of the Convention, once it has been signed.

- 15 Within this framework, the meeting stressed that its mandate was not, strictly speaking, to reconsider the Convention but rather to ensure that the few amendments proposed in 2010 had been adequately taken into account. It was on that understanding that the meeting agreed to consider a limited number of amendments, with the understanding that they should not call into question the general contents of the document for finalisation before submitting it to the Conference of Ministers.

Capacity Building for the Implementation of the AUBP

- 16 This item was presented by the Commission and by the different resource persons. The meeting unanimously stressed that without adequate human and technical capacities, it was impossible to effectively implement the different components of the AUBP.
- 17 In order to take up the challenges, the meeting identified the following activities as priority actions:
- (i) an inventory of experts and research and training institutions of the continent dealing with border issues, creating networks of existing institutions and development of curricula and training programmes on border issues;
 - (ii) establishment by the Member States, which have not yet done so, of National Boundary Commissions, as stressed in the previous Declarations on the AUBP;
 - (iii) organisation of training workshops for African structures and staff concerned;
 - (iv) promotion of an inter-departmental approach in the Commission, considering the multidimensional nature of the AUBP.

Partnership and Resource Mobilisation for the Implementation and Popularisation of the AUBP

- 18 The meeting stressed that partnership and resource mobilisation constituted an essential element of the AUBP. It welcomed the close relations established with the Government of the Federal Republic of Germany through the GiZ, which is the main financial contributor to the AUBP, as well as with other bilateral and multilateral partners. The participants recognised the urgent need to strengthen and diversify these partnerships. The issue of durable financing of the programme and the need for significant contributions from Member States was thoroughly discussed.

- 19 In a more specific manner, the meeting agreed on the following:
- (i) continuation and intensification of interaction with international stakeholders;
 - (ii) organisation, at the latest by December 2012, of the Conference on Resource Mobilisation to support the implementation of the AUBP;
 - (iii) earmarking of specific resources by Member States for the implementation of the AUBP.
- 20 On the issue of the popularisation of the AUBP, the meeting requested:
- (i) the preparation of a communication and sensitization plan aimed at making the AUBP better known;
 - (ii) the adoption of practical measures by the Member States to effectively celebrate the African Border Day.

VII. INTEGRATED BORDER MANAGEMENT STRATEGY

- 21 The consideration of the different agenda items highlighted the interrelation between delimitation and demarcation, cross border cooperation, capacity building, and partnerships and resource mobilisation. This calls for a new paradigm based on an integrated approach to border management, which should optimise the complementarity of the different components of the AUBP. In other words, it is a matter of adequately taking into account the interdependent aspects of security and development in the border areas. The meeting requested the Commission, within this framework, to finalise, as soon as possible, its integrated border management strategy.
- 22 The meeting requested the Commission to incorporate fully this new approach to border management in the Strategic Plan of Action 2013-2017.

VIII. PREPARATION OF THE CONFERENCE OF MINISTERS

- 23 The meeting resolved to submit its report and the draft Declaration to the Conference of Ministers for consideration and adoption.

IX. CLOSING OF THE MEETING

- 24 The closing ceremony of the meeting of Government Experts took place in the afternoon of 16 May 2012. During the ceremony, the participants thanked the Commission for supporting the smooth proceedings of the meeting. They also thanked the people and government of Niger for their warm hospitality.

Conclusion:

Strategic goals, genuine progress

The African Union Border Programme, which is the focus of this publication, states three strategic objectives. Although defined on two distinct geographical scales, these objectives are complementary:

- ▶ To assist and encourage African Governments in the delimitation and demarcation of their land and maritime borders in order to prevent conflicts and tensions at the borders.
- ▶ To assist and encourage African Governments in strengthening their cross-border cooperation through border populations' joint efforts, and States in order to strengthen regional integration within the Regional Economic Communities and other larger initiatives.
- ▶ To develop pan-African capacity-building mechanisms and undertake research and trainings on issues related to boundaries.

Already, the Programme can claim significant experience:

- ▶ Completion of demarcation works of the Burkina Faso/Mali boundary.
- ▶ Completion of the delimitation of the maritime borders between the Comoros, Mozambique, Tanzania and the Seychelles.
- ▶ Completion of the Malawi/Zambia boundaries' densification exercise.

- ▶ Ongoing densification exercise between Mozambique and Tanzania, and between Malawi and Mozambique;
- ▶ Launch of the delimitation and demarcation exercise between Mali and Senegal, the Gambia and Senegal, and between Guinea and Senegal.

Also to be noted is the construction of a Cross-Border Health Centre between Burkina Faso and Mali, the establishment of community radio stations, promotion of gender equality, and the creation of a network to support cross-border cooperation in Western Africa.

The Programme is moving forward and the number of States involved is increasing.

Among the remaining challenges are:

- ▶ Meeting the deadline of 2017 for the completion of the Programme;
- ▶ Resource mobilisation, including financial resources;
- ▶ The multiplication and dissemination of cross-border projects;
- ▶ The dissemination of information about the Programme, including among cross-border populations and media.

The “African Boundaries’ Day”, that should be held regularly every 7 June, will symbolically mark the progress of the Programme, especially in 2014 on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the 1964 Resolution of Cairo.

In this regard, the AUBP is a significant building block of the African Union’s commitment to peace and security. Its historical role is to contribute to resolving pending disputes around our common borders. The objective is still to strengthen peaceful relationships between the States.

Hence, there is an urgent need to overcome the vision of boundaries as barriers and to highlight their bridging function for the benefit of both States and populations. Genuine continental development rests upon its real integration. This is a major common interest.

For the very first time, this book presents all the founding instruments and legal frameworks related to the issue of international borders on the African continent. It provides insight into reports, communications, and the conclusions of successive stages of policy implementation.

The Charter of 1963, and the supporting Resolution of 1964, were approved by the African States themselves and these documents are emblematic of the continental consensus to respect the existing African borders. This consensus remains the cornerstone of African unity, peace and security.

The African Union, with its objectives for the next fifty years, and the Border Programme share the same aspirations of growth, development and security in Africa. A clearly delimited, demarcated and well-managed border facilitates not only greater security but also cultural and economic exchange, which is the foundation of prosperity for peoples and States.

Our vision is a united and integrated Africa with peaceful, open and prosperous borders. Our mission therefore is to resolve and prevent boundary disputes, and to promote regional and continental integration through cross-border cooperation.
